CELEBRATION

Oak Grove Presbyterian Church

HILLSBORO, WEST VIRGINIA OCTOBER 3, 1943

Rev. Henry McLaughlin, D. D. director of country church work in the Southern Presbyterian church preached at the morning service for the observance of the Sesqui-Centennial at the Oak Grove Church. His subject was "The True Church." This was followed by the Communion service. Dr. McLaughlin was born in Marlinton, and at one time attended school in Hillsboro.

The Methodist church cancelled its morning service and joined with the Presbyterian congregation in the services for the day. The combined choirs sang a special anthem, "Jesus Meek and Gentle" (Pease).

At 12:30, a bountiful dinner was spread on long tables under the golden maple trees. And when everyone had enjoyed the delicious meal, there were still more than the proverbial "twelve baskets full" remaining, even after a number of dinners were sent to sick and "shut-in" residents of the community.

At 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon an appropriate Sesqui-Centennial service—1788-1943—was held in the church. Rev. J. C. Wool, pastor of the Marlinton Presbyterian Church, brought greetings from that church.

Communications and greetings from former members and pastors were read by the pastor. The choir sang "Advance With Christ." The words of this hymn were written by Dr. H. W. McLaughlin.

The history of Oak Grove Church which was recently written by the present pastor, Rev. J. K. Fleming, was read by him. There were many compliments on the preparation of this paper.

Former members and friends were present from Marlinton, Lewisburg, Durbin, Greenbank, E. Rainelle, Charleston and St. Albans, W. Va., and Covington and Clifton Forge, Va.

In response to a request for those who remembered worshipping in the "Old Brick Church" which stood where the cemetery now is, Mrs. Rella Yeager and Mrs. W. H. Auldridge, stood. The former members were also asked to stand, who had moved away and had taken their church letters with them. Among this number was John A. Sydenstricker of Marlinton, who was a son of the manse in Hillsboro, and was living here when the present manse was built. He was the only child of the manse present, and his father, Dr. David S. Sydenstricker, had the longest pastor of any pastor of this church—32 years.

In the vestibule of the church where those present were asked to register, were displayed the pitcher and goblet of the old silver communion set, and a number of old photographs, including a picture of the "Old Brick Church" which was drawn by Glen Clark, nephew of Mrs. Rella Yeager, from her description of the church. Other pictures were of the old Brick Academy, drawn by the late Asbury Smith for Mrs. Yeager; the old frame church which stood on the lot where the present church was erected; pictures of Rev. Mitchell Dunlap's home and the little building near his home where he taught a class of ten boys. Mr. Dunlap was pastor of this church for 24 years. Pictures of Dr. Sydenstricker and Rev. J. C. Johnson, who served the church for 25 years, were shown, as were also pictures of the old Methodist church, and the present one. One of the old phipit chairs was used in the vestibule. More than 200 were in attendance at Sunday's services. "Aunt Matt" Libbs, as she is affectionately called by all who know her, and who says she has been janitress for this church for 40 years, was present, rendering a great service.

National Forest Timber For Sale

Sealed bids will be received by the Forest Supervisor, Elkina, West Virginia up to and including October 16, 1943 for all the merchantable timber marked or designated for cutting on an area embracing about 112 acres in Spruce Lick Hollow on the drainage of Knapps Creek about three miles northeast of Minnehaha Springs, Pocahontas County, West Virginia, White Sulphur Ranger District of Monongahela National Forest, estimated to be 20 M bd. ft. of chestnut oak; 25 M bd. ft. of red oak, 110 M bd. ft. of white oak; 40 M bd. ft. of hemlock; 10 M bd. ft. of red maple, cucumber, basswood and white pine; and 5 M bd. ft. of other species. No bid will be considered of less than $3.50 per M bd. ft. for chestnut oak; $7.00 per M bd. ft. for red oak and white oak; $4.75 per M bd. ft. for hemlock, white pine, red maple, cucumber and basswood; and $2.00 per M bd. ft. for all other species. In addition to the prices bid for stumpage a cooperative deposit of $1.00 per M bd. ft. for the total cut of all red oak and white oak will be required for stand improvement work on the sale area. All timber will be sealed with the International "Log Rule." The successful bidder will be required to execute a contract containing special stipulations concerning the operation of the timber, $300.00 must be deposited with the bid, to be applied on the purchase price, refunded or retained in part as liquidated damages, according to the conditions of the sale. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved. Before bids are submitted, bidders should examine the marking on the area and should obtain full information concerning the timber, the conditions of sale, and the submission of bids from the Forest Ranger, Marlinton, West Virginia, or the Forest Supervisor, Elkina, West Virginia. On October 8 the Forest Ranger will be prepared to accompany any or all interested parties over the chance to show the marking and give full information on the conditions of the sale. Interested parties should meet at the Ranger Station at Marlinton, West Virginia, before 10:00 A. M.

NOW that the crops have been harvested the big job ahead is feeding and caring for the dairy herd during the barn feeding season... Fall calves usually grow better than spring calves because they're fed and cared for in the barn all winter. But any calf will grow better if you baby it to some extent. Teach it to drink from a pail and then teach it to eat Southern States Calf Starter. Let it lick the Calf Starter from your fingers while it's mouth is still wet with milk. With Southern States Dry Calf Starter you can save from $15 to $30 in raising a calf to 4 months of age. In addition to the money saving you release from $50 to 1250 pounds of milk for human consumption...

It's good business to treat a dry cow just as you would a piece of fine machinery. Build up her body with good roughage and low-protein Southern States Dry & Freshening Ration or 12% Quality Dairy. Feed her enough to get her on the fat side before she freshens. A cow that's up in weight at calving time will require less high protein feed during her next lactation.

If your barn is full of good roughage, Southern States 12% Quality Dairy is an excellent feed for cows in milk or for your young stock and dry cows. Built mainly from high quality ground grain, it contains some high protein ingredients and is fortified with minerals and vitamins. Ask your local Southern States Cooperative Service Agency to include 12% Quality Dairy in your next order.

IT'S A FACT! that the cows on the farms of Southern States patrons produced enough milk last year to provide every man in the United States around a glass of milk every day in the year.

Overweight Motor Oil Costs You Dear
Be sure of changing to your Lightest possible grade
-by having your engine WINTER OIL-PLATED
Sure as you live... sure as your car must live... you'll want a change to the lightest motor oil that your engine can use this Winter of War.
Waiting for a "real cold day" before draining overweight oil that drags when it chills, is like waiting for your battery's doom. This drag of overweight oil wastes gasoline, too. And even worse is the big chance of internal damage because overweight oil won't squirt and spray into friction zones of your engine quickly. For the sake of your battery, your gasoline coupons, and your engine, change to your lightest practical grade of oil.
You can quit wondering whether "one grade heavier" might be on the safe side. You can be as safe as possible with your engine OIL-PLATED by even your lightest suitable grade of Conoco Nth motor oil. Its load-carrying capacity is doubled by synthetic means. And this also creates "magnet-like" action to keep lubricant closely fastened to inner engine surfaces, in the form of OIL-PLATING. Even the lightest grade of Conoco Nth oil will give your engine the high protection of OIL-PLATING. Ask Your Mileage Merchant today to recommend the grade suitable for your car. Continental Oil Company
Dread Engine Acid is Fought by OIL-PLATING
Normal combustion always leaves acids inside of your engine when it stops. Formerly it seldom stood idle long. Soon mileage and speed heated your engine enough to oust acids. But nowadays rationing may force long rests, while corrosive acids gnaw. To combat corrosion, metals are plated. You combat acid corrosion with your engine OIL-PLATED.

Elza E. Morton Training At Submarine School

Elza E. Morton, 22, ship's cook, 2-son of J. E. Morton of Frank, has completed basic training at the Submarine School, Submarine Base, New London, Conn., for duty with our growing fleet of underwater fighters. S.C. Morton will be entitled to wear the twin dolphin insignia of the submarine service after further experience aboard a submarine during which he must demonstrate to his commanding officer that he is fully qualified to carry out the duties of his rate. The insignia is regarded as a mark of distinction throughout the Navy.

Morton attended Greenbank high school, and was a letterman there in football. He joined the Navy four years ago, had recruit training in Norfolk, Va., duty aboard battleship and other vessels and was commended the third time for meritorious service.

The Submarine School, the only one of its kind in the Navy, is attended by a picked group of men who must pass special physical, mental, and psychological tests. The school work takes place not only in classrooms and laboratories, but also in numerous training submarines in which students master the actual technique of operating the powerful fighting craft. Many students at Submarine School already have seen battle as members of surface ship crews before volunteering for submarine duty. Others are fresh from training stations, but all graduates are sure of action once they are assigned to a submarine due for offensive patrol. Large numbers of recent students now are serving in submarines which have sunk enemy naval or merchant vessels.

Miss Mary Margaret Herold visited with her mother, Mrs. E. G. Herold, in Staunton, Va., over the week-end.

E. H. Wade has been among those who have been on the sick list in Marlinton recently.

Miss Margaret Smith, student at the University, visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harper Smith, over the week-end.

Mrs. W. L. McClune of San Francisco, Calif., arrived last week to spend some time with Miss Emma McClune of Hillsboro.

Misses Nellie and Elizabeth Kesler visited in Franklin over the week-end.

Miss Patty Stemple was in Elkins from Friday until Sunday attending a D. and E. sorority gathering.

Mrs. Fred Allen who has been ill is reported improving.

Miss Edna Lee Gibson, Miss Glenna Gibson and Richard Gibson, Jr., were shopping in Lewisburg Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Sheets spent the week-end in Baltimore, Md., and Washington, D. C., where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hiner.

The school work takes place not only in classrooms and laboratories, but also in numerous training submarines in which students master the actual technique of operating the powerful fighting craft. Many students at Submarine School already have seen battle as members of surface ship crews before volunteering for submarine duty. Others are fresh from training stations, but all graduates are sure of action once they are assigned to a submarine due for offensive patrol. Large numbers of recent students now are serving in submarines which have sunk enemy naval or merchant vessels.

Your soldier son gets all these things from your electric bill!

If you buy electricity from a business-managed electric company, 24c out of every dollar you pay is promptly passed along as taxes. On an annual household electric bill of $57.60, the total tax is about $9.04.

- * $3.25 of this goes to local governments for schools, roads, police, etc.—and $5.79 goes to the Federal government. As Army prices, the $5.79 paid by one family will equip one soldier with all the things shown here.

See Here, Private Hargrove!

by Marion Hargrove

THE STORY SO FAR: Private Marion Hargrove, former editorial employee of a North Carolina newspaper, has been inducted into the army and is receiving his basic training at Fort Bragg. He has been classified as a cook. This classification together with a more than usual amount of KP duty have caused him to become pretty well acquainted with the company kitchen. Private Hargrove has become rather well versed in the many angles of "goldbricking" and other army pastimes. He claims, however, that "shooting the breeze" or the "bull session" is the soldier's favorite recreation. At this stage of training some of the boys are experts in the art. As we pick up the story he is discussing this.

CHAPTER IX

By this time, the evening bull sessions have worn themselves into a very definite routine. If Corporal Ussery is there, he lectures on how he'd run the Army; if it's Private Terrence Clarkin, he tells how he used to direct the intricate traffic affairs of Radio City Music Hall when he was assistant chief doorman there. Unless Private Henri Gelders is stopped, he'll start a violent argument among the butchers over how to cut a steak.

McGlauffin will talk for hours about the beauties of the lakes in Minnesota. Grafenstein will deliver discourses on how he would run the Wisconsin football team; Pappas, about Alabama's Crimson Tide. Maciejewski will sermonize on the utter baseness and treachery of womanhood.

Lately, however, the sessions have come more and more under the sway of Private Merton Hulce, a mad Irish lad from Muskegon, Michigan. Private Hulce apparently didn't stop at kissing the Blarney Stone. He must have stolen half of it to carry with him.

Hulce's chief topic of conversation is his mother's fabulous family, the Smiths, all of whom seem to get enmeshed in every war that comes along. His grandfather, who was a captain in the Coast Guard at the outbreak of the last war, was transferred to duty at guarding munitions dumps and such for the duration of the war.

According to Hulce, one of the munitions guards with his grandfather's detail was approached late one night by an officer of the guard. "Halt!" shouted the sentry, and the officer halted. "Advance to be recognized!" said the sentry, and the officer advanced. The sentry forgot to order "halt" again and the officer came within a foot of him. Suddenly the officer reached out and snatched the rifle from the guard's hand.

This was an exceedingly uncomfortable position for the guard, especially in that time of war. He might even have been sentenced to death. The officer stood there just looking at the guard for fully a minute. "What would you have done," he asked in a terrible voice, "if an enemy had got your gun like that?"

The guard trembled for a moment and answered, "I would have snatched it back, sir," he said, "like that!" And the officer stood there, empty-handed.

Hulce's grandfather, who told that story, is now about sixty-five, his grandson says. He was asked to come back into the Navy three months ago as a captain. Being a Smith, he's back. With him in the second division today are two of his sons and two of his grandsons.

Marion had two orders in the last war, both of whom faced exceedingly well when you take a practical view of it. Another friend himself out. The first crossed the ocean some time playing the clarinet in a band. The second was a German. Hulce's grandfather had the best time and the best in the side were snatched with maximum. Hulce's uncle snatched his gun, still playing his clarinet. That was the granddaddy story.

The other uncle served as a sergeant in the first war. Carrying a bayonet fixed knife, he was back in the front lines. He was the first to go down in battle. Granddaddy the first to go down in battle. Granddaddy the first to go down in battle. Granddaddy the first to go down in battle.

Then there was the woman, granddaddy's mother's best friend in the first war. She was the first to go down in battle. Granddaddy the first to go down in battle. Granddaddy the first to go down in battle.

growing there in the midst of the fiery hell, and there were still peaches on it. He tried to sneak into the tree, but the enemy's bullets found him. He was carried together with a more than usual amount of KP duty have caused him to become pretty well acquainted with the company kitchen. Private Hargrove has become rather well versed in the many angles of "goldbricking" and other army pastimes. He claims, however, that "shooting the breeze" or the "bull session" is the soldier's favorite recreation. At this stage of training some of the boys are experts in the art. As we pick up the story he is discussing this.

This happened at exactly ten o'clock on the morning of November 11, 1918—one hour before the Armistice was signed.

Next to the Bugler, I suppose the battery clerk has the goldbrickingest job in the battery. You could cut his pay to ten dollars a month and he'd still be defrauding the government.

Just watch the battery clerk for a while and you start wondering why he's in the Army, when he's so evidently cut out to fit the leaning end of a WPA shovel. While the rest of the battery is earning its daily bread with sweat, the battery clerk sits in the orderly room hob-nobbing with the powers that be, typing the daily worklist with original spellings for all the names and wondering how long it is until lunchtime.

Our battery clerk is a beardless youth named Howard Miller. I tripped over him yesterday evening on my way back from a hard day's work and stopped to chew the conversational fat.

"Junior," I asked him, "how does your conscience feel about this six-day goldbricking schedule every week? Don't you feel a twinge on payday?"

Corporal Miller made a move to draw himself up indignantly, but decided it wasn't worth the effort. "If you're insinuating that I don't have to work you're off your bean, sonny. I do two or three times as much work as you happiness boys."

I yawned and sat down. "After listening to Ussery shooting off his mouth fifteen hours a day, I can take yours. Go on with your fantastic story."

"Boy," said Miller, "the responsibility is enough to kill an ordinary man. I'm a one-man information bureau for the whole battery. I have to know who everybody is, where everybody is, where everybody's going and how long he's going to be there."

"I have to know the answer to every dumb question you guys come popping up with. Where's my mail? When do I get my furlough? Where are we going to be sent when we get shipped out of here? Why didn't I get a weekend pass? Why was I on KP again today? Every sort of question you could imagine!"

"Quit popping your guns, laddie," I told him. "That's no grind for you. You use the same answer on all the questions: 'How the hell would I know?'"

He was quiet for a while and I thought he had gone to sleep again. I was all primed to hum "Chow Call" to wake him up, when he stirred and sighed heavily.

"All right," I prompted him, "so you're the one-man information bureau. So what do you do in the line of actual work?"

"Work!" he shouted. "That's what I do—work! Why, I have to write all the letters and keep all the files and keep duty rosters up to date! I have to make thousands of rosters of the battery every month—"

"That," I suggested, "should take at least two or three hours every day. What do you do to while away the other tedious hours of the day?"

He was quiet again for about a minute. Then he arose. "I've got a pretty hard day ahead of me tomorrow, Hargrove," he said. "I hope you won't mind if you excuse myself. You have to get plenty of sleep when you have a job like mine."

"When you have a job like yours," I growled, "you can sleep night and day."

The top sergeant stuck his head out of the supply room and beckoned with his arm. "Come 'ere, you!"

I dropped my stable broom in the battery street and hastened toward him, as one always does when summoned by the top kick.

"Well, Private Hargrove," he said, "this is a red-letter day for you."

"You mean you're going to let me go out and drill like the other fellows?"

"Noooo, Private Hargrove," he said. "I mean I'm going to let you turn in all your equipment. You are no longer to be a rookie, Private Hargrove. You are going to be an important working cog in the great wheel of national defense. You are leaving us."

"What's the deal?" I asked. "Where do I go and what do I do?"

The sergeant chuckled and leaned back in his chair. He sighed and looked at his watch. "Would you really like to know, son, or would you rather put it all as long as you can?"

"Well," I said humbly, "you can't be sending me out as a cook, because I don't know anything about cooking."

The sergeant sat back and chuckled again. "I thought I was going to be a damn good cook, but you're a damn good cook."

"No, Private Hargrove," he said after another long pause, "you're not going to be a cook. We're going to give you a job where you can use your natural talents."

There was a distinctly sadistic tone in his voice. I waited.

"You're going to be a first cook, Hargrove," he said fondly. "Not just a plain cook. A head cook! A king in your own kitchen, a man of responsibility. Ain't that lovely?"

"You can't do this to me!" I roared, when my breath returned. "It's against every decent human law! I don't know anything about cooking! I want to be a cannoneer!"

Sergeant Goldsmith's eyes wandered guiltlessly to the ceiling. "You don't know anything about cooking, huh? That's bad, boy, that's bad! Why, you're supposed to be on shift right now."

"Sergeant," I said, "I couldn't fry an egg right now if it had directions on the package."

"You're in the cooks' battery, ain't you? You've been going to cooking school and you've been sent to a kitchen for all these weeks. You're supposed to be graduated any day now. What have you been doing in the kitchen I put you in?"

"Making jerk-ade," I explained, "chopping celery, peeling onions. They say I get in their way. They say I keep spirits too high and production too low."

"I feel for you," the sergeant said. "I deeply sympathize. You're going to be a mighty unpopular little boy in your new home. If that supper tonight don't melt in them boys' mouths and send them clamoring for more, they'll either massacre you or run you over the hill. That's one thing the boys won't allow—bum cooking!"

"Sergeant Goldsmith, sir," I implored him. "Can't somebody else go in my stead? Somebody who can cook? Look at me—a digger of ditches, a mopper of floors, a scrubber of kitchens, a ministering angel to undernourished grass plots, but a cook never! You don't know what you're doing to me!"

"Son," he said, "you're going to make a perfectly breath-taking Horrible Example." I had nothing more to say.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for October 10

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education, used by permission.

REVERENCE FOR GOD

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:3-7; Matthew 4:10; 6:9; John 4:23, 24.

GOLDEN TEXT—God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth.—John 4:24.

The first three commandments bring man into the presence of God, where he is taught how to worship God in spirit and in truth.

"The first commandment (Exod. 20:3) bids us worship God exclusively; the second (vv. 4-6) bids us worship Him spiritually. The first commandment forbids us to worship false gods; the second forbids us to worship the true God under false forms" (Farrar). The third commandment (v. 7) indicates that true worship will deal reverently with the name of God.

Israel had lived among the Egyptians, a people known for their worship of images, and were about to enter into Canaan where there were many false gods. The Lord was therefore careful not only to forbid the worship of other gods, but also to forbid the making of images of any kind, whether they represented the many gods of heathendom, or were attempts to symbolize the true God.

I. The Command to Worship (Exod. 20:3-7).

God first claims the entire devotion of man. If He is Jehovah, the Lord God, it is obvious that there can be no other god before Him. He is a personal God (v. 2) with whom it is possible for man to have fellowship. He must come first in our thought and our love.

The second commandment expressly forbids idolatry in any form. The injunction is twofold. (1) Men are forbidden to make any material likeness which to them represents a being to be worshiped. It matters not whether it be an image or what men believe God to be like, or the image of an angelic being, a heavenly body, in fact, "anything that is in the heaven above," or on the earth—such as a man or animal; or under the water—such as a fish. (2) If such objects have been made either by ourselves or others we may not bow down to them, nor render any service to them. Let us all examine our religious ceremonies and practices in the light of God's commandment.

Observe that obedience to this command brings rich blessing to "thousands" (v. 6), whereas disobedience is a curse not only to the man who disobeys, but also to his descendants.

The careless, vain or irreverent use of God's name is forbidden (v. 7). How common that practice is today, even among Christian people. If we do not actually use His name, we use some slang expression which stands for His name.

Now we turn to two passages from the Gospel of Matthew to see how Jesus practiced these commandments.

II. The Example of Christ (Matt. 4:10; 6:9).

To the temptation of Satan, offering rich reward for an act of worship to himself, Jesus gave prompt and effective reply by quoting Deuteronomy 6:13. Thus He gave His approval to the command that all our worship and service is to be given to God.

This spirit shows itself in the reverent devotion of the prayer (6:9) which Jesus taught His disciples. The name of God is to be hallowed—that is, to be regarded as holy. No one set a higher example of that than our Lord. Himself God, He was obedient to the Father, even unto death, always doing those things which pleased Him and honored His name (John 8:29; Phil. 2:8).

III. The Manner of True Worship (John 4:23, 24).

God is to be worshiped in spirit and in truth, not in dead formalism or by empty ritual. There must be reality in such devotion.

One would suppose that a truth so obvious and vital would long since have been completely saturated the life of the church as well as of the individual believer. "God is a Spirit, and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

Even today, countless men and women still believe that worship has something to do with place (vv. 20, 21) or race (v. 22) or some other external device or formula. What a pity, when the gracious and delightful way to worship is through personal spiritual communion between God and man.

Deadening formalism is not our only enemy. There is the powerless preaching of modernism—and in all honesty must we not admit that even some so-called fundamentalism has in many respects lost the true spirit of the faith for which it rightly contends.

We see then that the commandment of God regarding reverence is not just a law on a faded page in an ancient manuscript. It is a living, vital reality, operative today.

LATEST NEWS ON AMMUNITION—NONE FOR HUNTING

Under War Production Board Supplementary Order L-286-A individuals may now apply to their local supplier for ammunition to hunt animals and birds so as to protect crops and livestock and increase the food supply. We quote a portion of the WPB release as follows:

(c) Special quota for 1943 for all persons except those who have received the farmer's and rancher's special quota. Any person except a farmer or rancher may purchase fifty .22 caliber rim fire cartridges, 20 center fire rifle cartridges and 25 shotgun shells of any gauge, and any farmer who has not purchased or ordered his full quota allowed for farmers and ranchers under paragraph (b) of this order, may purchase the same quantities of ammunition less all ammunition purchased or ordered by him as his special quota under paragraph (b) hereof, subject to the following conditions:

(1) He shall not purchase, accept delivery of, or order such ammunition before October 1, 1943, or after November 15, 1943.

(2) He must sign and deliver to the seller at the time the purchase order is placed a certificate in substantially the following form:

Certificate No. 6

Special quota for 1943 for all purposes except those who have received the Farmers' and Ranchers' special quota.

(The order for which this certificate is made must be placed after September 30, 1943, and before November 16, 1943.)

PLANS FOR WEST VIRGINIA

A program directed at better hunting and fishing in West Virginia has been presented to the sportsmen and farmers of the state by Irving A. Cohen, recently become a member of the State Conservation Commission. Cohen is president of both the Outdoors Men and Farmers Association and the Kanawha Game and Fish Association of that state.

Rearing ponds for both forage and game fish are among the recommendations to permit stocking not only of more fish but of larger trout. Also urged is extensive planting of food plants for wildlife, with cooperation of farmers and landowners, seed and seedling to be supplied by the Commission. Restoration of forest lands is advocated as well as the planting of cover and food trees along the boundaries of state forests and parks so that sportsmen may benefit from the overflow of game. The state now owns more than 100,000 acres of forests.

One in the Hand is worth two in the Bush!

Before starting on your hunting trip you should make sure that you know what game you can or cannot hunt. Last season our friend and well-known popular Nimrod, Albert V. Fitzwater, known by all as "Judge," had a very unfortunate experience.

The day before the season started, accompanied by two of his sons-in-law, Keith Pauley and Carl Zogg, the "Judge" started out for his favorite hunting grounds in Nicholas county. When they started for the woods to hunt squirrels the "Judge" told the boys to be careful and not violate any game laws. He even advised them as to the penalties for violations. After hunting most of the day the "Judge" shot two squirrels and Keith and Carl had one each.

The "Judge" feeling a wee bit tired picked out a hickory tree and stretched himself upon the ground, and soon was in the arms of Morpheus. After about an hour's time he got up, reached for his gun, when he saw a flock of eleven wild turkeys about twenty yards away. The "Judge," being a law-abiding citizen and a member of the Gospel, took aim at the turkeys, and then turned to his sons-in-law and said, "It's just my luck to be able to get a shot like this and the turkey season doesn't start until Armistice Day."

By this time the turkeys had disappeared out of shooting range and the "Judge" feeling pretty tough and disappointed at not being, as he thought, able to shoot at the turkeys, said "Let's go boys," and started off for the farm house where they were staying. Upon their arrival at the house the "Judge" related his ex-

New WMC Program Tightens Control On Job Changing

CHARLESTON, Oct. 13.—A new employment stabilization program which will tighten the War Manpower Commission's control of job changing from or within essential activities will go into effect throughout West Virginia on October 15, it was announced today by Andrew Edmiston, state manpower director.

The new program will supplement the stabilization plan which has been in effect since last May 15. Director Edmiston said the program is intended to (a) hold essential workers on their present jobs if they are so employed; (b) assure transfer of workers to jobs aiding in the war effort; and (c) supply men needed for the armed forces without cutting war production.

The program encourages persons not now employed in essential activities to change to war-useful jobs. It also encourages persons who are not working at all to get war jobs. For workers of this type, it is necessary that they sign a certificate of prior employment with their new employer. They cannot move out of their present area without an inter-area release from their local U. S. Employment office. This is very important, Mr. Edmiston said, and he cautioned anyone against leaving home without a job without this clearance.

The new program provides that a person who has worked in an essential activity within the last 60 days may change jobs only if he is hired for another essential activity or is transferred to a job which he was released for work to which he was released by the U. S. Employment office. This means that any employee, other than those designated as essential by the WMC, cannot hire himself into essential work within the past 60 days, except through direct referral from the Employment Service. Any person who has worked in an essential activity within the past 60 days must have a statement of availability from his employer or from the Employment Service before he can be hired by another employer.

A worker can obtain a statement of availability from his employer or from the Employment Service if he or she has been discharged; has been laid off for seven days or for an indefinite period; if it would mean undue personal hardship to continue on present job; if wages or working conditions are below standards set by state or federal law, or if wages are below the level established by WLS.

The employment service can issue statements of availability also if it finds the firm for which the applicant is working is violating provisions of the stabilization plan; or if it finds the worker is employed at less than full time or at a job which does not utilize his highest skill.

Special provisions have been established for the hiring of railroaders, federal government employees, etc. Provisions of the program are applicable to the hiring of agricultural workers, government workers, county, municipal or other employees, domestic servants or workers for vacation work.

The plan provides that any worker who may appeal the granting of a statement of availability.

Andrew Edmiston cautioned employers to keep records of statements of availability, referral cards and statements of prior employment from their new employees. The stabilization plan, he explained, provides that the employer shall make these records available for inspection upon request by a representative of the War Manpower Commission.

He urged workers who are now on the job to stick to their work and not to change unless they are certain they have a valid reason.

He urged also that persons now unemployed or persons not working should get to their employment office and get a war job. There are many jobs available in West Virginia, he said.

Exhibition of "Salute to Wood" Caravan Brings Thrills to Hundreds of County Citizens

OUR DEMOCRACY — by Mat

"Money is a good servant, but a bad master." — OLD SAYING.

OUR MONEY SERVES US WELL WHEN WE USE IT WISELY. AS WE ENLIST IT IN ACTIVE SERVICE, — PUT ALL WE CAN INTO WAR BONDS, LIFE INSURANCE, SAVINGS ACCOUNTS, — IT SPEEDS A QUICKER VICTORY, — WILL HELP TO WIN A BETTER TOMORROW FOR US IN THE PEACE.

The residents of this vicinity had an opportunity to witness a realistic reproduction of Uncle Sam's fighting men using the maneuvers, guns, other weapons and war equipment employed in actual battles on foreign war fronts when the long Army "Salute to Wood" Caravan gave its big War Show in Marlinton on Tuesday. They also viewed comprehensive exhibits of the many products manufactured from lumber and pulpwood which are used by our armed forces in the war and which are considered vitally essential to the Nation's war efforts.

A crowd estimated at 1500 persons gathered at the Marlinton high school athletic field shortly after 4 o'clock Tuesday, and with a mixture of comedy and solemnity viewed the spectacular performance. The visiting soldiers demonstrated the technique of our fighting men with guns, bayonets, jeeps and scout cars and staged exhibitions of Judo fighting, which is America's answer to Oriental jiu jitsu.

The band and vocalists supplied musical numbers and a group of soldiers engaged in a comic interlude portraying "K.P." duty. A demonstration of how a rookie soldier is transformed into an alert and efficient man-of-arms also was given.

The rattle of machine gun fire, the boom of heavier guns and colorful bursts of flame-throwers and rockets gave realism to the display.

The speaking program was participated in by Army and Navy officers. Mack H. Brooks welcomed the caravan members and Alva Johnson gave a response for the lumber industry. Dancing was planned for the visiting soldiers Tuesday night under the sponsorship of the local Rotary Club and the Business and Professional Women's Club.

The Army "Salute to Wood" Caravan is making a 5,500-mile "On to Victory" tour of woods and mill centers in 13 Southern and Appalachian states, staging its War Show in 49 communities, with the purpose of stimulating production of lumber and pulpwood and to assist in relieving serious shortages of these materials at this critical time.

The Caravan was organized by direction of Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, and is in charge of Capt. Hale Nelson of the War Department, Industrial Services Division. Participating in the event here was a complete war-strength company of infantry troops with full field equipment, 356 enlisted men, including medical unit, technicians and 34-piece Army band, accompanied by six combat veterans of the Army, Navy and Marines, recently returned from foreign battlefronts where all of them were wounded.

To transport this big Caravan, which is said to be the largest and most complete of its kind ever assembled for a war production program, 75 military vehicles are employed, including staff cars, land and amphibious jeeps, armored scout cars, kitchen and supply trucks, personnel and cargo carriers, trucks for exhibits of war equipment and wood products, big truck and trailer with tractor for invasion equipment and an ambulance.

Uncle "Pud" Tucker
By HOY McCUSKEY

ARSENIC AND "OLD ACE"
When the husband pulled a little white bundle of fuzz out of the sleeve of his overcoat, a puppy won a heart and a home. We named him "Ace" because the husband had him up his sleeve. Within a year's time Ace developed into a handsome dog, loved by all our neighbors and their kids for his courage and devotion. His companionship we lost when the War came along and spoiled it all. The Army needed "Ace" badly and after several heart-breaking fireside conferences, we reluctantly sent him to a Training Camp where he passed all of his tests with flying colors. For months we heard nothing about him, but yesterday we received the following message:

South Pacific—1943
Dear friends:
I'm writing you a few lines to tell you about "Old Ace." He's my buddy in this Paratroop outfit. You see, when I drop out of the clouds for somewhere in Togo's land, "Old Ace" drops right behind me and we usually land on the dirt about the same time. Twice in the last month he has saved my life—he gets 'em before they have time to pop a hand grenade. He hates a Jap and Arsenic alike. There's no difference between "Old Ace" and a Victory Bond—they both are life savers for we boys here in the jungle.

WARREN O' McCARTY CAPTURED NEAR FROST BY STATE POLICEMEN

Warren O'Dell McCarty, who has been sought for sometime on a charge of desertion, was captured last Friday evening by members of the West Virginia state police.

McCarty, who was born October 4, 1925, weighs 154 pounds, has blue eyes and medium colored hair, was a member of Platoon 613 of the U. S. Navy, and had been absent from his post at Norfolk, Va., since leaving for an 8-day furlough on December 22, 1942.

Fourteen members of the state police, including L. V. Minnick of the local detachment, captured McCarty about 5 p. m. October 8. The posse had searched the homes of Frank McCarty, a brother, Mrs. Tabaytha McCarty, his mother, and that of Edgar Bussard, a brother-in-law, all residents of Frost, but found the absentee in the home of Harmon I. Shinnery of Knapps Creek, where the prisoner stated he had been working all summer. Persons who have harbored the prisoner also are subject to indictment, Mr. Minnick said.

Troopers also reported that Laddford McCarty, a brother of Warren O'Dell McCarty, and also charged with desertion, was seen leaving the home of Edgar Bussard, and is still at large. He has been absent from the Army since September, 1942.

Warren McCarty is being held in the Pocahontas county jail.

Dr. U. H. Hannah Dies Suddenly

A home service was conducted Monday for Dr. Uchiah Hevener Hannah of Cass, who died Friday, October 8, 1943, after a sudden illness. Dr. Hannah had been in his office until 9 o'clock Thursday night, and following his sudden critical illness, he was taken to a hospital at Ronceverte where he succumbed during an operation.

Funeral services were in charge of Rev. Hugh Jefferson of the Cass Presbyterian church, and Rev. Hobart Childs, pastor of the Liberty church at Greenbank. Miss Lena Anderson sang "Abide With Me."

Dr. Hannah was born near Arbovale. In preparation for his work as a physician he attended the University, College of Medicine at Richmond and Hampden Sydney. He was a member of Phi Chi medical fraternity and Phi Gamma Delta.

He came to Cass in 1913 and has served since that time as physician for the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company and The Mower Lumber Company. He was a former president of the Pocahontas County Board of Education and aside from his medical practice dealt extensively in the cattle business.

Dr. Hannah endeared himself to people throughout the Greenbank District, among whom he earned the reputation for fidelity to duty and with whom he sympathized and befriended in many ways. Greenbank District schools and business places were closed Monday as a tribute to the deceased country doctor.

Uriah Hevener Hannah was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Baldwin Hannah. He was united in marriage to Laura Bock, who survives along with the following children: Laura Bock, Margaret, and Mary Anne Hannah. Mrs. William Brown and Mrs. Ellis Hall.

Among the huge crowd which attended the funeral Monday were the following persons from a distance: Mrs. Annie Hannah Bock and son Paul of Richmond Va., Mrs. J. M. Hannah of Arvon, Va., Mrs. E. P. Shafer and son Emory of Bryn Mawr, Pa., Miss Anne Bock of Chicago, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. William Brown and daughter Alecia of Olivia, Minn., Miss Laura Hannah of Concord, Mass., Margaret Hannah of Durham, N. C., Ward McLaughlin of Charlottesville, Va., Mr. and Mrs. James Wallace of Elkins, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kelly of Elkins, Edgar Dickson of Second Creek, Ruth Hannah of Summersville, Mary Archer Hannah of Staunton, Va., Joe Gluck of Clarksburg, Junius Summerson of Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hivick of Harrisonburg, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Nethken of Harrisonburg, Va., and Dr. Gunning of Ronceverte.

C. F. Gordon Dies

A letter has been received by Clyde Sutton stating that his uncle, C. F. Gordon, had died in a hospital at Colorado Springs, Colo., on September 26, 1943. Mr. Gordon was a son of M. W. and Mrs. Ellen Gordon, and a son-in-law of Mrs. J. W. Carpenter. He was reared in the Williams river section, near Marlinton. Surviving are his wife, the former Miss Edna Sheets, and several children.

IT Impresses

ME

THE WRITER has come out of his first turkey hunting experience with many distinct impressions... foremost among them is my respect for the superb quality of mountain men I have met in Pocahontas county, which increases every time I climb a mountain with one of them... No wonder George Washington felt he could lick anybody with a handful of the men from West Augusta!

No sensible person would ever try to run away from one of them uphill... I was privileged to be the companion on this hunt of a new friend, Lennie D. Nottingham, near Durbin... Leaving the main highway at the home of a Mr. Curry near the Bethel Church on the Back Mountain road, we began our ascent up Cheat mountain in the darkness before daylight, and the thing grew steeper with every step... About halfway up, which seemed like miles, I was sweating and puffing in terrible fashion; from there on it was torture, and patient Lennie, cool as the morning air, had to strike a disgustingly slow pace for me to keep up, and my leather-soled shoes, worn only by tenderfeet and novices, began to get slick and I was first up and then down on one knee... At 6:30 a. m., we still had a third of the way to go, or as Lennie said, a couple more "rises"—just a nice kind way of saying a hunk of a steep hill up to a flat... By now my gait was: 25 feet, stand and rest, 25 feet kneel and rest, 25 feet sit and rest... and I was doing little better than a crawl when we reached the last plateau... Here Lennie informed me that a good stand was "just up through those open woods ahead" and that he was going farther out the ridge... Making arrangements to meet him for dinner, I entered that patch of open woods, and do you know that dern thing was another "rise"... At 5 after seven, I finally reached the stand, but it was 8:30 before I was back to anything like normal... To briefly conclude, no mast on Cheat—no turkey...

DO YOU like Chestnuts?... Then you are sure to like Marie Chestnut, who's smiling her pretty smiles around Johnson's Restaurant these days... No sign of a blight, huh...

AND to make their meals even more pleasant Gum's Restaurant at Durbin has added the presence of sweet little Deanie Rexrode... Though when it comes to being pleasant, Mrs. Gum herself leaves little to be desired...

WE'D also say without hesitation that Sambo Moyers, also of Durbin, is a fine boy of good judgment... He enthusiastically said "My principal, Mr. Poscover, is the finest principal in the county"... And we hope every boy in every school feels just that way about his principal... for in this generation of Americans the teachers and principals do more to shape the lives of youth than parents themselves...

ENTIRELY out of keeping with the natural beauty of the season, the inevitable hand of Death was laid heavily upon two of the most important people in the world in this county over the week-end — one a mother and one a country doctor... others may succeed them, but no one can replace them... God allows no duplications in some phases of human life... —The Editor.

Gasoline Explosion Takes Life of Mrs. Russell Colaw

Severe burns sustained when a bottle of gasoline exploded as she picked it up from the floor in a neighbor's home, resulted in the death of Mrs. Jessie Colaw, wife of Russell Colaw, of near Durbin, at the Elkins City Hospital, Friday, October 8, 1943.

Mrs. Colaw was born September 21, 1918, at Coalton, a daughter of Willis and Grace Kelley Sheets. She is survived by her husband, a daughter, Mary Ellen, aged 4, and a son, James Lee, aged 2. A brother, Cawn Sheets of the U. S. Army, and two sisters, Mrs. Hallie Reynolds of Parkersburg and Mrs. Maud Belknap.

Burial was made at Bethel cemetery, October 10, following services at the Bethel church in charge of Rev. Will Push of the Brethren Church, assisted by Rev. Ollie Hevener.

Dies in Jap Prison Camp

Word has been received that Capt. J. Paul Linger, son of Mrs. Bessie I. and the late John F. Singer of Penfield, Pa., died in the Osaka, Japan, prison camp December 9, 1942. He had been a prisoner of war since the fall of Corregidor. Capt. Singer was about 35 years of age and was a nephew of Mrs. Jennie E. Roche, and grandson of J. E. Chitester, formerly of Married. His widow and one son survive.

M. H. S. Plays Alderson Friday at Local Field

Marlinton high's football squad which eked out a 7-0 victory over Richwood in that city last Saturday, for its third straight win this year, will tackle the gridders of Alderson high Friday afternoon at 1:30 in what probably will be one of its toughest games of the season.

Drs. Charles, Lillie Holliday Are Moving to Princeton

Drs. Charles and Lillie Holliday of Hillsboro, who have been residents of Pocahontas county for three years, have moved their office to Princeton. Dr. Charles Holliday is now in charge of the Princeton office, and upon completion of business matters at Hillsboro Dr. Lillie Holliday will join him there.

A dinner honoring the Drs. Holliday was held last week by Mrs. Maggie Long, with several friends and neighbors present. On Sunday the couple were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Pyles of Seebert, and many other small gatherings have been held in their honor.

The Hollidays will be greatly missed in the Little Levels section, where they have been extremely useful citizens. Both are members of the Methodist church, Mr. Holliday is a member of the Masonic Lodge and Mrs. Holliday of the Eastern Star.

Cass Minister Here Sunday

The Rev. Hugh M. Jefferson, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Cass, will preach at the Marlinton Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p. m. Sunday night, October 17. It is announced by the Rev. J. C. Wool, local pastor.

Sunday school will be held at 10 a. m., and the pastor will preach at the 11 a. m. service.

MARSHOFF SENT TO WISCONSIN

Nevada E. Marshoff of Lohela has been sent to Wisconsin Engineers Camp, Camp McCoy, Wis., from the Reception Center at Fort Thomas, Ky., according to announcements from the Center.

National War Fund Gifts Coming In

While only scattered reports had been turned in for publication this week, the workers for the National War Fund campaign are busily engaged in their respective communities soliciting the contributions which will put the drive for $3,500 in Pocahontas county over the top.

Harper M. Smith, county chairman and a member of the State War Fund Committee, announced some of the contributors from Huntersville and Edray Districts which had been turned in to him by the workers. Mr. Smith emphasized that these lists are not complete, and that many other workers are yet to make their reports. The partial list follows:

- Ethel Braham $1, Roscoe Beverage $1, Oda Gay $1, Mae Gay $1, Willie Dilley $1, Mrs. Laura Grimes $1.50, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Shrader $1, Mattie Humes $1, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sharp $1, John F. Shrader $1, Otis Shrader $1, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Kennedy $1, E. G. Davidson $3, N. L. Perry $1, Maggie Perry $1, Esta Purkey 50c, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fertig $1.50, Amos Shrader $5, Myrtle Fertig $1, Virginia Kline 50c, Ruby Miller 50c, Mrs. Oda Gay $1.

Floyd Viers $5, Mrs. Frank McLaughlin $1, Mrs. Harry Sharp $1, Mrs. Birdie Dilley $1, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Moore $2.50, Dr. Fred Allen $1, Mr. and Mrs. Frank King $5, Dr. Joe Parsons $1, Myrl Ervine $1, Paul Overholt $5, Mrs. Ardell 50c, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cross $2, Mrs. Clyde Bussard $1, Mrs. Fred McLaughlin $1, Miss Fannie Simmons 25c, Mrs. Browning 50c, Miss Annie King $1.50, Pocahontas County Board of Trade $20, Ralph Welch and employees of bilster rust control (from sale of scrap iron picked up throughout county) $15.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Price $5, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Simmons $10, Letcher Simmons, Jr., $5, Wilbur Sharp and family $25, Mrs. Mary Hoover 50c.

Actions of October Court

Among the actions of the October term of Circuit court here, were the following:

Geneva Lawson vs. Neal Lawson, divorce granted.

Virginia Hollingsworth vs. William Jack Hollingsworth, divorce granted.

Tressie Halterman vs. Gilbert Lee Halterman, divorce granted.

Rachel Elizabeth Helmick vs. George W. Helmick, divorce action, referred to J. E. Bushley, commissioner.

The sitting of the grand jury was held October 8, with E. A. Hudson as foreman. Five indictments were returned.

ITALY: Take Big Base

The once beautiful port of Naples smoked in ruins as Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark's Fifth army clattered through its streets.

Before giving up Naples, the Germans destroyed the elaborate docks and warehouses and other installations that had made the port one of Europe's finest.

The German retreat at Naples also was influenced by Gen. Bernard Montgomery's flanking movement along the Adriatic sea coast to the East.

WORLD AVIATION: Seek U. S. Share

Returning from a 40,000-mile tour of the battle fronts, Senators James Mead, N. Y., Richard Russell, Ga., and Ralph Brewster, Maine, declared U. S. commercial aviation companies would be denied use of airports built in foreign countries by America.

The senators called upon congress to make provisions now for U. S. use of the airports by including agreements in lend-lease assistance. The senators also declared that while the U. S. was supplying the Allies with 65 per cent of their oil, Great Britain was not fully exploiting her tremendous petroleum reserves in Persia.

Any attempt to reduce the importance of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command in the South Pacific by placing him under the supreme direction of Lord Mountbatten would be bitterly resisted by Australian Prime Minister John Curtin, the senators said.

RUSSIA: Near Poland

Russian troops drove within 100 miles of the old Polish border in the northern sector of the long front, while other Red forces assaulted prepared German positions on the west bank of the broad Dnieper river to the south.

Failing to hold their new line, the Germans would be pushed out of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, and they would lose substantial control of their Baltic sea route to Finland.

Stiffening German resistance and appearance of massed artillery along the west bank of the Dnieper, indicated that the Nazis were determined to make use of the broad river as one of their last natural defense lines along 700 miles. Russian crossings to the west bank in some sectors were met by prompt German counterattacks in an effort to prevent the organization of sizeable Red forces for continuation of their drive.

WAVES: Members of the WAVES, the navy's women auxiliary, will not be permitted to wear sweaters, by a provision in a bill reported out by the senate naval affairs committee.

NEWS: A separate force of 200,000 soldiers may be mobilized by Great Britain for service in Burma, it is announced from London. One of the most serious men to be recruited in Palestine and the West Bank.

RAILROADS: Small reductions in

GAS: New Rations

Because the Midwest and Southwest were exceeding their gasoline allotments by 75,000 barrels a day, the OPA reduced their "B" and "C" coupon rations from three to two gallons. Similar reductions were made in the Southeast.

At the same time, "B" and "C" coupon rations in the Northeast were cut from 2 1/2 to 2 gallons, while "A" coupons in the East were boosted from 1 1/2 to 2 gallons.

In announcing the new rations, OPA declared that it was intended to force the use of at least one gallon out of the three gallons on the "A" coupon for occupational driving.

FARM: Guarantee Payments

Appearing before a congressional committee, War Food Administrator Marvin Jones asked for an additional 500 million dollars for the Commodity Credit corporation to provide farmers with guarantee payments in the 1944 production program.

The CCC now has a fund of 500 million dollars. It is intended to use this money for loans on major crops like wheat, cotton, corn, wool, tobacco and potatoes. With the extra 500 million dollars, guarantee payments would be advanced on vegetable oil crops, dry beans and peas, sugar beets, fresh truck and fruit crops, and canning crops.

Jones sought authority to buy surplus crops and absorb loss through resale at lower ceiling prices. He also asked power to resell perishable commodities like fruits and vegetables which the government might obtain through price-supporting purchases, at less than parity.

DRAFT: Asks New System

Tightening up of deferments of men under 30 years of age and the draft of dads by age groups was proposed by Senator Robert A. Taft during debate on Senator Burton Wheeler's bill for postponing the induction of fathers until January 1.

Taft's proposal would grant deferments of men under 30 only if the deferment were approved by the men's own draft board and the draft board having jurisdiction in the territory where the deferment would be granted. Fathers under 25 would be called into service before those over 25 but under 30. Those over 30 would be called last.

Taft also proposed that the President establish a medical commission to study the possibility of lowering physical standards to draw more single 4F's into the service.

For Higher Allowances

Higher allowances for children of service men provided for in a senate bill, were supported by the army.

The bill would raise the monthly payment for one child from $12 to $18, and for every child thereafter from $10 to $11. The present payment of $50 to wives would be continued, with the government contributing $28 and the service man $22.

An army spokesman also advocated higher allowances for other dependents. Where a service man is not supporting a wife or child, it was recommended allowances to one parent be boosted from $37 to $50 monthly, and for two parents from $47 to $68. In cases where the service man is supporting a wife and child, allowances for a parent would be raised from $20 to $27, and for two parents from $30 to $68.

The army said it was in no position to withhold payments to financially independent or unfaithful wives.

POST-WAR: Study Peace Policy

Reportedly believing that other nations might take the Fulbright resolution as an indication of America's unlimited indulgence in world politics after the war, the senate foreign relations subcommittee moved to kill the bill.

The senate moved to write a bill of its own, broadly expressing America's post-war peace policy. It was thought that in so doing, support could be rallied for Sen. Arthur Vandenberg's provision assuring America of independence in determining her action in any program.

As chairman of the senate's foreign relations committee, Sen. Tom Connally led in the move to kill the Fulbright resolution. Connally has indicated America should await further development in world politics growing out of the war before committing itself to any course.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC: Fight to Last

Stubborn Japanese fought to the death as the Allies closed in on their base at Finschafen. But the Allies were able to bring superior forces to bear from the north, west and south, and the Japs lacked the numbers to shift to meet the attacks.

While the Allied air force continued to pound Jap bases throughout the entire Southwest Pacific area, U. S. airmen reported the appearance of a "super-Zero" enemy fighter plane. Not only can this new plane outdiver our P-38, it was said, but also affords the pilot better protection than the old Zero because of heavier armor.

Cavalry Rides Again

As a result of the mountainous terrain of Sicily and Italy, cavalry has come into its own again in this war.

Former cowboys and rodeo performers are astride the horses that are being ridden over rocky and craggy country where motor vehicles cannot be driven, to deliver food, water and other supplies to troops. Sometimes they escort mule packs.

Perched atop their mounts, the cavalrymen are often in position to detect machine gunners hidden under natural cover, and when they do, they pepper them with the small, yellow grenades.

WHEAT: Canadian Purchases

With sales of wheat as feed running about one million bushels a day, the Commodity Credit corporation has gone into Canadian markets to bolster its stocks, recently estimated at 129 million bushels.

Total purchases from Canada have reached 30 million bushels, of which 22,500,000 bushels have been shipped into the country. Of the unshipped total, 3,500,000 bushels are waiting to be moved over water from northwestern ports.

Since July 1, CCC wheat sales principally for feed have approximated 111,500,000 bushels.

MEXICO: Settle Oil Claims

In final settlement for oil properties which it took away from American nationals in 1933, Mexico agreed to pay a total of $29,137,700, of which $5,141,709 represents interest at 3 per cent.

During negotiations for the settlement, the American nationals had claimed the seized properties had a valuation of hundreds of millions of dollars. But a commission of experts trimmed this claim to $23,995,991.

Under terms of the agreement, the present balance of payments will be made in four annual installments.

U. S. WAR PLANTS: 13 Billion Stake

Speaking before a congressional committee, Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones advocated the sale of the government's 13 billion dollars worth of war plants and other property to local interests after hostilities.

The government now controls 50 per cent of aluminum production; 92 per cent of steel; 100 per cent of synthetic rubber and high octane gasoline; 50 per cent of machine tools, and 90 per cent of aircraft. In addition, it owns 47,000 square miles of land, the area of six New England states.

TIRES: Quota Reduced

Motorists will have to get along with fewer tires in October than in September. The Office of Price Administration has reduced the quota from 829,000 to 645,000 for this month.

Under the new ruling, only motorists who drive 601 or more miles per month can qualify for new tires. By another change, used tractor and other farm vehicle tires were removed from the ration list.

Three-Nation Agreement Essential to World Peace

Evidence Points to Existence of Conciliatory Atmosphere Between U. S., Russia and England; Common Sense Pact Necessary.

By BAUKHAGE, News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building, Washington, D. C.

Through the past days, Washington has been anxiously watching a very trying, very delicate and difficult operation -- the attempt to break in a stubborn three-horse team which has never pulled together before.

The difficult journey toward an understanding to be reached by personal conversations across the table between Britain, the United States and Russia has begun. Following perhaps secret tripartite conferences between representatives of the three nations is the planned meeting of the heads of the three foreign offices. Questions frankly discussed with unsolved problems left open (if plans don't go amiss) will then be taken up between Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill personally.

It is a tremendous undertaking. This three-horse team has never run in harness together before. America has never been harnessed at all; Soviet Russia has had only one short and violent experience -- that with Germany -- which ended in disaster; and as for Britain, she is accustomed to being lead-horse; therefore, a lot of patience will be needed to hitch all three abreast.

There is a whole library of documentation to prove that an all-for-one, one-for-all agreement among these three nations is impossible. But it must be remembered that there were 13 powerful reasons once why a United States of America was impossible too.

The present goal is not the formation of a triple alliance. The present problem is simply to get a common sense agreement between three nations without which a post-war situation is bound to arise which Prime Minister Churchill described as "confusion." And when he used that word, he made a new high for English understatement. Few doubt that he meant war.

Arguments Against

As I said, there are plenty of reasons which can be cited why the United States and Britain and Russia cannot possibly agree but there are other reasons why they can.

There are two things which stand out in most people's minds as evidences that Stalin is not playing ball now and doesn't want to. One is the recurrent complaint in the official Russian press and earlier statements by Stalin himself to the effect that Russia is decidedly displeased with the Allies for not having built a second front by invading Europe from the British Isles. The other is the Moscow sponsorship of a Free Germany committee which appears to hold out better terms to Germany than unconditional surrender which the Allies demand.

Recently, I talked with a military man who suggested that perhaps the call for a second front after the invasion of Italy was part of an agreement with the Allies to confuse Germany. Churchill has said that he was assured by Stalin, when the Russian drive began this summer, that the Russians were confident that they could withstand German attack. As things have turned out, the Germans have not been able to counterattack. They have ordered a general retreat. It was admitted by military experts at first that this is a planned and orderly retreat. After the invasion of Italy, the Germans admitted that it was a general retreat. Now it looks like a rout. In other words, the creation of the "third front" in the Mediterranean has forced the Germans to give up the idea of attempting a counter-offensive. But since the slender hope of Hitler lies in dissension among the United Nations, why should Russia let him know that she was satisfied with any Allied action?

Free Germany Committee

As to the Free Germany committee, Russia itself has not made any direct official statement concerning it, has not officially backed up its program. It is composed of German prisoners in Russia who demand of their fellow-countrymen that Germany get rid of her present rulers and surrender. That in itself is something everyone wants to see. How much short of unconditional surrender that is, certainly is open to friendly discussion. We know that

Early Smoking

When tobacco was first introduced in England during the 16th century, it was literally worth its weight in gold--a pound of tobacco was commonly sold for an equal weight of silver and coins.

The art of smoking was also regarded most seriously, and it was considered a disgrace not to be able to inhale smoke through the nose. There were even professions of smoking who initiated beginners into the mysteries of inhaling the blowing smoke rings.

WRITER'S INSPIRATION—A FLAXEN HAired DOLL.

SEEKING AN INSPIRATION, something to write about, I stopped before a store window in my town. Sure enough, there it was, a flaxen-haired, blue-eyed, red-cheeked, prettily dressed little lady—a doll.

That doll had been produced to satisfy the motherly instincts of a little girl. An object on which to lavish an instinctive mother love. It told me a story of thousands of workers employed in the making of dolls, a story of food and clothing and shelter for many thousands of families created by that motherly instinct of our small lassies and our ability to satisfy that appeal.

It brought to my mind the conditions in many other countries in which little girls have that same motherly instinct; of countries where that instinct must be, and is, satisfied with a rag with a string tied around it—a doll without the reality of flaxen hair, blue eyes, red cheeks and pretty clothes; of lands where that motherly instinct does not provide comforts for homes by making jobs for workers. It also brought to my mind the days of our grandmothers, our great and great-grandmothers who, as little girls, had to be satisfied with a rag with a string around it as a doll.

That flaxen-haired, blue-eyed doll pictured for me the difference in our American standard of living of today and in the time of our grand and great-grandparents, and in our standards and those of many other nations. It illustrated the necessity of maintaining our standards, not alone for our small girls but for all of us, and as an incentive for achievement on the part of people of other nations.

Breakfast Needs

How many notches are you pushing up the nutrition yardstick at breakfast time? There are three meals a day, and if your family is to receive the necessary amount of nutriment during that day you should take care of as many of these requirements at one meal as possible.

Another reason in favor of the nutritious breakfast is that it helps the family to be up and at the day's work with more zip and pep than if they just have the roll and coffee, bite-and-run excuse for breakfast.

Always have fruit or fruit juice to begin the day. Not only does it help to start the day off in good style, but it gives you some quota of your vitamins and minerals and calcium.

Eggs in one form or another have always been a breakfast favorite. Serving them during this morning meal is a splendid way of getting in at least the one egg a day or four or five a week requirement in hand. However, if you feel that eggs are too expensive to serve every day for breakfast, use fruits that contain iron, such as prunes and oatmeal and whole grain breads to make up on the vitamin B1 needs.

It's smart to introduce variety into the breakfast just as is done in the other meals. Vary breakfast breads as much as possible, the ways in which you fix eggs, the fruits served, and the cereals or other foods such as pancakes, waffles, french toast, etc.

Here's a waffle recipe guaranteed to please palates and ask for encore:

- Breakfast Menu
- Orange Juice
 - *Walnut Waffles
 - Syrup
 - Beverage
 - Grapefruit
 - Cornflakes or Prepared Cereal
 - Milk, Cream or Sugar
 - *Raisin-Nut Toast
 - Beverage
 - *Recipe Given

Walnut Waffles.
 (Makes 4 to 6 large waffles)

- 2 well-beaten egg yolks
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 2 cups pastry flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 6 tablespoons melted shortening or oil
- 2 stiffly beaten egg whites
- 1 cup broken walnut kernels

Combine beaten egg yolks and milk. Add flour sifted with salt and baking powder. Then add melted shortening or oil. Beat until smooth, then fold in egg whites and nuts. Bake in ungreased waffle iron.

Toast is an old standby and even more delightful if the bread used is varied occasionally. Here are two new favorites:

Date Bread.
 (Makes 1 1-pound loaf)

- 2 1/4 cups sifted flour
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 1/4 cups chopped dates
- 2 eggs
- 1 1/4 cups milk
- 4 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add dates. Beat eggs, milk and shortening and add to dry ingredients. Stir only until flour is well moistened. Pour into greased loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 1 hour.

A delicate treat for breakfast is the lacy, golden morsel corn cake which originated down south. It should be served with butter or margarine and honey:

Raisin Nut Bread.
 (Makes 1 1-pound loaf)

- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 4 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 3 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon

Lacy Corn Cakes.
 (Serves 6 to 8)

- 1 1/4 cups white water ground cornmeal
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 2 cups milk
- 1/4 cup shortening, melted

Add salt to cornmeal. Combine well beaten eggs, milk, melted shortening and pour into cornmeal, stirring until well combined. Pour batter, which should be very thin, into a pitcher and stir thoroughly before pouring each pancake into a well greased griddle or skillet. Turn the pancake as it begins to brown. They should be paper-thin and have a lacy effect.

No one could ask for a more satisfying breakfast than the luscious sweetness of maple syrup combined with light, fluffy tender buttermilk pancakes:

Lynn Says:

Top of the Morning! A recent survey of students' breakfast habits revealed the following facts. About 50,000 students were contacted.

Most students do eat breakfast, but there are still some who go without it. Over half of them have rolls or bread of some kind, but more than half do not have breakfast food of any kind.

The larger percentage did not have fruit or milk—a most lamentable fact for students' breakfasts.

About a fifth of the amount investigated do not have cereal or eggs for breakfast.

According to their own opinion, most of them feel they do not have an adequate breakfast.

Buttermilk Pancakes.
 (Serves 6 to 8)

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 2 cups (scant) buttermilk
- 2 tablespoons shortening, melted

Sift together flour, salt and soda. Mix beaten eggs, melted shortening and buttermilk. Add to flour mixture gradually, beating until smooth. Fry in hot, greased griddle. Serve with maple syrup.

WHEN MOTHER'S SHELVES WILL REALLY COUNT

FOOD MERCHANTS, especially those operating the larger chains, tell us we will be short, very short, on canned fruits and vegetables before the winter is far advanced. It is then the well-filled bins and shelves of the home cellar will look especially good. It is then we will offer special praise to mother for her forethought in stocking the family larder. It is then we will appreciate to the full the advantages of living in a rural community or on a farm where a garden was possible. That Victory garden may well rate higher in February than it did in August—thanks to Mother.

NO TIRES FOR RUBBER CZAR

Col. Bradley Dewey, who succeeded Big Bill Jeffers as rubber director, says he wishes he could get his hands on a set of synthetic tires. He is now in charge of the program which promises to produce 30 million synthetic tires by the end of next year, but he is not able to try synthetic tires on his own car.

"I wish," says Colonel Dewey, "that OPA would let me have a set of the new tires. I'd like to try them out. I understand they skid less than natural rubber. Not that I drive at skidding speeds, mind you, but I'd like to see what they would do."

"Some of the taxi drivers out in Akron have new synthetic tires, and they swear by them. But I'd like to see what they would do for me."

Reason for Dewey's inability to get tires is that though he is in charge of the entire program, he is obliged to apply for tires through OPA, like any other citizen. And since his present tires are reasonably good, he can't get any new synthetic tires.

SOLDIER VOTE

NO MATTER which side of the political fence you may be on, do not count the soldier vote before it is cast. Of the men in the armed service in November of next year every few, if any, will have the privilege of voting. In many states absentee ballots are not permitted, in those where they are permitted, they are mailed only on request, and with the complications involved, requests will come from but a small percentage.

MERRY GO ROUND

A high, air-minded war department official says the length of the war depends on the weather this winter. If the weather is favorable for flying, the war in Europe might be over before next summer.

Brig. Gen. Glen C. Jamison, of the Thirteenth air force, South Pacific, pays high tribute to Negro engineers who built roads, airfields, and living quarters in the Solomon and New Hebrides, using native construction materials and thus saving shipping from U. S.

WHEN GERMANY QUITTS

regardless of when that may be, we will not know what our ration books. The food for food production and consumption will be even greater than now. There are millions of starving people in Europe whose lives will depend upon the production of American wheat.

GREEN MATERIALS make the easily applied leaves. Use the paler green shade for the waistband. Use organdie for a "party" apron—muslin, percale or unbleached muslin for an everyday apron.

UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER—AND THE ENEMY

UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER. That phrase appeals to us. We like the sound of it. We picture it as representing a decisive, conclusive, definite beating of the Hun, the Jap and their satellites, and we are for it.

But just what does it mean to the enemy peoples? Does it call for an unconditional surrender of their armed forces, their armies and navies and their war production facilities? Does it call for the abdication of their governments? Does it call for these, plus the surrender without conditions of all the people, their lands, homes, business and other forms of individual wealth?

Hitler would have the people of Germany believe the Allies are demanding the unconditional surrender of all the people of Germany with the confiscation of their individual wealth. He pictures for them an armed taskmaster, internment camps, forced labor, the breaking of home ties, the obliteration of national culture and national trade for a long, long period.

If Hitler's definition is correct, there are comparatively few Americans, in our present frame of mind, who would urge any softening of that definition. If he is not right, if those who have named the terms have something less drastic in mind, it might hasten the day of internal collapse in Germany if that less drastic definition were given to the German people and the German armies. The President did a part of that in one paragraph of his Ottawa speech.

ARMY'S FAVORITE FOODS

Since the Truman committee's investigation of food waste in the army, the quartermaster corps has been as frugal as a Dutch housewife. Elaborate studies have been made of what the soldiers eat and what they leave on the plate, with the idea of cutting down the percentage of garbage.

After watching the eating habits of 16,000 soldiers at Chanute Field, Ill., the quartermaster corps gave each dish a rating, according to its popularity.

Roast chicken and apple pie rated 100. So did roast duck and roast ham. But creamed ham rated only 55. (QMC dietician Mary I. Barber explains: "Not many men like mopped up food. Arternus Ward said: 'When I eat hash, I like to know what I'm eating.'")

No matter what you may do to butter up spinach, it remains spinach and the soldiers gave it a rating of 41. It was just about the lowest of all.

WHEN GERMANY QUITTS

regardless of when that may be, we will not know what our ration books. The food for food production and consumption will be even greater than now. There are millions of starving people in Europe whose lives will depend upon the production of American wheat.

TURKEYS AND THE ARMY

The army is beginning to wonder if it hasn't over-extended itself on the business of turkeys. It has ruled that civilians may not buy turkeys for their Thanksgiving or Christmas dinners—or for next Sunday's dinner, for that matter—until the army has acquired 12 million pounds for the armed forces overseas.

That sounded all right, until somebody in the quartermaster corps began figuring out what you could do with 12 million pounds of turkeys. For generous portions, you can figure that 100 pounds of undressed turkey will feed 100 men.

The number of men in the armed forces overseas, including army, navy, and marines, is around two million. Allow each man a pound of turkey for Thanksgiving and another for Christmas, and you reach the total of four million pounds.

But the amount reserved for this purpose is three times four million, or 12 million pounds.

When certain food experts in the quartermaster corps realized this, they started to do some fast telephoning. When last heard from, they still didn't know what two million men would do with 12 million pounds of turkey—except eat 'em.

NAZI PSYCHOLOGICAL WARFARE

Beware of false rumors about Germany. The Germans, masters of psychological warfare, are watching every opportunity to take advantage of American credulity. They know that Americans are optimistic by nature and that we are prone to believe any story about miraculous victories or fortunate events.

Apparently it was this method of psychological warfare which prompted the reports that Hitler had been deposed in favor of military authorities.

It has now been definitely established that no such event took place. State department officials now say flatly that the whole thing was a false report, from beginning to end. It was so generally reported, however, that they believe it must have been prompted by Germany. The motive in such a case would have been to make Americans rush to the conclusion that Germany was tottering and the war was not far from finished. This would have the effect of weakening our bond drives and similar efforts.

Note: The Nazi news report of Hitler's ousting came via Spain.

Latin America Airways

Commercial airlines have developed so rapidly in Latin America in the last two or three years that they now have a total of 107,000 route miles and 750 scheduled stops, compared with 45,000 route miles and 260 stops in the United States, which has about the same population but only 28 per cent as much land area.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Success of the Dutch in transplanting the quinine tree from Peru to Java helped encourage interest in the development of rubber plantations in the Far East in the early 1870's.

With all the discouragements of rubber and gasoline restrictions, automobile registrations of the end of 1942 were only 5 per cent lower than in 1941, a record year. Commercial vehicle registrations were down 5.5 per cent.

It is estimated that at one time there were between 200 million and 300 million wild rubber trees in the Amazon Valley and that less than 10 per cent have been tapped to date.

Postwar Farm Program Will Be Discussed At Conference Here

Development of plans for a postwar farm program will take place when a group of local farm leaders hold a County Agricultural Conference at the Marlinton Methodist Church Thursday evening, October 21, at 7 o'clock. T. A. Conway, a representative of Southern States Cooperative, announced yesterday.

This group will pool ideas, exchange views, and suggest programs both for postwar and immediate action in matters vital to local agriculture. Mr. Conway explained. As for the present farm situation, the shortage of many essential production supplies and the shortage of labor on farms, in feed mills, in fertilizer and other plants, and many maladjustments present a real challenge to the farmer. In regard to the future, there is no question that the postwar period will bring with it numerous changes and many new problems, and the sooner the farmer starts planning ways of coping with them the better his position will be when the war ends.

County Groups Receiving 1943 T. B. Christmas Seals

Local county anti-tuberculosis associations are being sent 21,000,000 Tuberculosis Christmas Seals in anticipation of the 27th annual sale which is to commence on November 22, it was reported this week by the West Virginia Tuberculosis and Health Association. This is 2,000,000 more Christmas Seals than were utilized last year. It is hoped by the state and local associations that this additional number will help them realize the goal set for this year which is $82,000, the amount needed for continuing and expanding their program of tuberculosis control.

The tuberculosis associations, with the money raised from the sale of Christmas Seals, conduct throughout their territories diagnostic clinics, X-raying and tuberculin surveys, nursing service, health education activities, rehabilitation work and other efforts directed and extended if progress against the disease is to be made. Also, increased appropriations for hospitalizing the tuberculous and caring for their families will be needed, it is stated.

OC HEAD TO SPEAK TO STATE JOURNALISTS

Byron Price, director of the Office of Censorship, Washington, will give the main address at the All-State press dinner October 29, in connection with the 22nd State Journalism Conference, October 29-30, at the State University.

The conference, for weekly and daily press of West Virginia and for members of the Associated Press, will have its official opening at 2 p. m. the first day with Acting President W. H. Barger of Keyser, presiding. Business and editorial clinics will be highlights of the program.

Besides the address by Mr. Price, the program for the all-state dinner will include induction of new members into the Fifty Year Club by Calvin W. Price of Marlinton, and announcement of newly elected members to the West Virginia Journalism Hall of Fame by G. C. McKown of Martinsburg.

Legion Post Sends First Shipment of Cigarettes

The cigarette fund for men in service overseas reached the first stage of its goal this week, according to Frank E. Johnson, commander of Legion Post No. 50, which is sponsoring the collection of funds for that purpose, and which has placed glass receptacles in various public places. The Legion post is sending its first consignment of 20,000 cigarettes to the boys in the Mediterranean area, and when sufficient contributions are gathered will also send a shipment to South Pacific soldiers. Mr. Johnson urges county citizens to continue their splendid support of the campaign and "make the boys happy with cigarettes for Christmas."

The Legion enjoyed Past Commanders' Night Monday, when six of the former post commanders were present. Several interesting talks were made and the post received into its membership some soldiers of the present war who are now eligible.

Paul Overholt, immediate past commander was presented with a past commander's gold button.

See Here, Private Hargrove!

by Marion Hargrove

THE STORY SO FAR: Private Marion Hargrove, former newspaper employee of a North Carolina paper, has been inducted into the army and is receiving his basic training at Fort Bragg...

CHAPTER X

There was one Sunday evening when Sher started a letter to his family and found, after a couple of paragraphs, that there was nothing for him to write about...

Several days later—after I had swapped in skillet for a typewriter and had moved to Headquarters Battery—I came by Battery A to see if I had any mail from my nonwriting friends in Charlotte...

The old gang, which has lived and worked and played together for over three months and has grown into a close and sympathetic brotherhood, is dissolving now...

The student cooks whom I grew to know and feel a fondness for during those months are not so fortunate as some of the other soldiers. The Charlotte boys who were inducted with me and who went...

For spend too much time flirting with that cute little waitress at the delicatessen in Fayetteville.

Through their antitank training together will go together to Fort Knox and will continue to be with each other for at least a while longer. On the other hand, these student cooks of Battery A will not go out together...

With the class who comes with you back, you'll find that through their...
You'll find that through their...
You'll find that through their...

each other's illness, fatigue, despair. When Happy Menza grows homesick for Buffalo and McGlaufflin a wistful reminiscing about the lakes and forests of Minnesota, you are homesick for them rather than for yourself...

Friday night was probably the last evening the boys of my old crowd would be together. At least, it was the last evening they were sure of being together. The following day they were to go home for a week's furlough...

When we rode to the river in our chartered bus, we rang the welkin with the old songs—the faintly fragrant songs you pick up through the years and the "Calson Song" and "Old King Cole" that you learn in the Army...

At the party we ate barbecue and we drank beer and we recalled the best anecdotes of the training cycle. We sang and we shouted. Two or three of the boys dipped a little too deep into the keg and became slightly sentimental...

It was the sort of feeling that you know in the last hour before the New Year's bells, the feeling that reaches its fullest when "Auld Lang Syne" is heard.

Since we left our homes last July we've learned a lot. Drills and rifles, pup tents and gas masks, all of that.

This, though—the scattering of our first fraternity—is another thing we have learned, now and for the first time. It is our first lesson in a new kind of homesickness, bred only in the Army.

"Private Hargrove," I said to myself, "you have been doing quite too much gallivanting lately. There have been too many movies, too many bull sessions, too many hours spent at the Service Club and too much time spent flirting with that cute little waitress at the delicatessen in Fayetteville..."

Private Wesley Sager, late of Amsterdam, New York, grew weary of the quiet. Yawning widely, he rolled over in bed and with a sudden swoop yanked the pillow from beneath the head of Private Melvin Hart. "Yippee," screamed Private Sager, tossing the pillow across the squadroom to a willing accomplice. "Yippee," screamed the willing accomplice, tossing the pillow back to Private Sager.

Private Hart rose and retrieved his pillow with dignity and formality. He placed it on his bunk, smoothed it and laid his head upon it. Three privates sighed in resignation. The incorrigibles were at it again.

Private Sager lay quiet for a while. Then he broke into a loud, rough, but unconvincing snore. The three sighing privates did not return to their occupations, but lay in philosophic expectation. Once the boys in that corner got started, nothing but physical exhaustion could stop them.

Private Sager turned as if tossing in his sleep. Private Hart noted the move and held his book ready to strike if a hand came toward his pillow. Private Sager turned again, facing away from Private Hart, and Private Hart relaxed his vigil. When he did, the hand shot out once more and the pillow sailed across the room and into waiting arms.

Again Private Hart retrieved the pillow and again he lay down. "Why," he asked, "must you behave like a two-year-old infant? Can't you act like a normal adult?"

"Sure I can," Private Sager replied. "I'll sleep outside with me and get up your feet."

Private Carney picks up the bait. "Anything Hart says about me or about what anybody else says about me is entirely fictitious, and any resemblance to persons living or dead is coincidental and not intended."

Private Sager sits up suddenly in bed. "Don't talk like that about Hart," he says in a quiet, serious, and menacing voice. "Anything you say about Hart is a personal insult to me. If you're inclined to insult me, kindly take off your stripe and step outside with me."

"Don't you go talking like that to the ranking first-class private of this section," rasps Private Hart. "I don't like your manner at all. Kindly step outside with me while I beat your brains out."

If you want peace and quiet on these stay-at-home nights, the best solution is to go to the second barracks down the line. There's nobody down there except fifty-eight members of the band, who are always rehearsing at this time of night.

Slang runs wild in the Army. It's like a disease or the liquor habit. Among the boys who sit around on the back steps after Lights Out and bat the breeze far into the night, no simple and understandable English word is used where a weird and outlandish concoction can be substituted.

A new and glibbie man is sent for the cannon report, or the rubber flag which is used on rainy days.

Water is GI lemonade. Salt is sand or Lot's wife; pepper is specks; sugar is sweetening compound. Milk is cat beer; butter, dogfat. Ketchup is blood. In the untiring imagination of the soldier, green peas become China berries; hominy grits are glamorized into Georgia ice cream; rice is swamp seed. Potatoes become Irish grapes; prunes change to strawberries; hot cakes become blankets. Bread is punk and creamed beef on toast is punk and salve. Meat loaf and hash are kennel rations.

It is strictly against the code of the Army to say a complimentary word about the food or the cook, no matter how good the food is or how hard the cook labors to make it so. Oscar of the Waldorf in the Army, would still be either a slum-burner or a belly-robbler.

Back at the News, the boys in the composing room and the mailing department used to send greenhorns searching all over the building for erasing ink, striped or dotted ink, paper stretchers, and other non-existent items. Here, a new and glibbie man is sent for the cannon report, or for the biscuit gun, the flagpole key, or the rubber flag which is used on rainy days.

Here are some of the most popular figures of speech: Army Bible—the Articles of War; regulations. Barrage—a party, especially where the Demon Rum rears its ugly head. Blanket drill—sleep. Butchershop—a dispensary or hospital.

By the numbers—like clockwork; with precision and efficiency. Chili bowl—regulation haircut. Chest hardware—medals. Didie pine—the gold bars of a second lieutenant. Dog robber—an orderly. The eagle—money. On payday, the eagle flies. Front and center—come forward.

Flying time—sleep. Gashouse—a beer joint. Guss—honey. Guff off—to make a mistake. Handshaking—playing up to superiors. Higher brass—the higher ranks of officers. Hollywood corporal—an acting corporal. Holy Joe—the chaplain. Honey wagon—the garbage truck. Housewife—a soldier's sewing kit. Jubilee—awards, which is the usual pronunciation. Monkey Machine—a sanitary toilet. Punctured letters—pages missing. Punctured checks—cancelled checks, good for credit at the post exchange. Rube the author—the post-exchange man. Rube the author—the post-exchange man. Rube the author—the post-exchange man.

Jesus and the Sabbath
LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:8-11; Isaiah 58:13, 14; Mark 2:23-3:6. GOLDEN TEXT—And he said unto them, The sabbath was made for man, and not man for the sabbath.—Mark 2:27.

The sabbath was essentially a day of rest and worship; hence the principles which surrounded it and directed its life may be applied to our day of rest, which is the first day of the week—the Lord's day. That word "rest" sounds a little strange in this busy world of ours, and yet it is an important one. It means quiet for the struggling one, calm for the troubled, repose for the weary, tranquility for the disturbed, cessation of labor for the worn-out one. God in His infinite wisdom saw that without rest man would soon destroy himself, and He made provision for one day of seven in which labor should cease and man should be free for that recreation of soul and body which should fit him for the labor of the week. Our lesson answers two important questions about our rest day, namely, Why? and How? I. Why We Keep a Day of Rest (Exod. 20:8-11; Isa. 58:13, 14). The chief reason is that God commands it. One day out of seven is for our re-creation by rest and worship. That should be sufficient to cause His people to "remember" the day "to keep it holy." Doubtless it is true that essential war work and related activities must be carried on, even on Sunday. God did not forbid works of necessity. But even though there is this need, who will deny that many use Sunday for work that is not essential—and countless others devote it to godless pleasure. Notice that the day of rest was to be not only for the family, but also for servants and for visitors. The employer who unnecessarily operates his factory or office on Sunday violates this commandment. Note also that the man who is to rest on the seventh day is supposed to work on the six days. The precept of Exodus 20 is enforced by the promise of Isaiah 58. The man who delights in keeping God's commandment regarding the day of rest, will find that God delights in and honors him. Both men and nations have found this to be true. II. How We Keep a Day of Rest (Mark 2:23-3:6). The formalists of Christ's day, the Pharisees, had overlooked the heart of God's law and the holy living which it was intended to produce, and had bound up even the observance of the sabbath (which was intended to be a day of rest and gladness) in such a mass of technical "thou shalt not's" that it was a day of fear. They had a false outward profession of worship and had entirely missed the true spirituality of God's law, a fact which drew upon their heads the anger and rebuke of our Lord. The two incidents in this portion of our lesson reveal that under the cloak of earnestly observing the law of the sabbath, the Pharisees were actually covering their own hypocrisy and their hatred for Christ. The accusations against the disciples because they had taken and eaten grain was not on the ground that they had stolen, for the law (Deut. 23:25) guaranteed that right to the one who passed through his neighbor's field. The Pharisees contended, however, that the disciples had worked on the sabbath in picking and hulling the grain. The healing of the man with the withered arm revealed that back of their professed concern for the sabbath was a real hatred for Christ. It is an appalling thing that in the house of worship on the very sabbath day, these men, outwardly so religious, were plotting against our Lord. "They watched him," and even so the enemies of the Cross watch us who are His followers. They are not concerned that the man with the withered arm, or with the withered soul may be helped, but only that they may find something to condemn. Jesus cuts across human hypocrisy and hatred to declare that the true keeping of the sabbath is to do the work of God. No work of necessity (like plucking the grain) or of mercy (like healing the withered arm) is ever out of place on the day of rest. A word of caution is needed, for some have sought to interpret this Scripture as providing biblical ground for doing all sorts of things on their day of rest. That day is for man's good, not for his destruction. His greatest good is served by rest, worship, spiritual development, Christian fellowship, and the doing of deeds of mercy and love. The destruction of the world's Day is not intended to be a sabbath rest. Let us not contribute to the destruction. America needs Sunday as a day of rest and worship.

Enos and Enoch

Back in the days of Enos. Men called upon the Lord, But walked the broad and downward way.

It was not until Enoch— Four generations later, That anybody walked with God To please the great Creator.

In Genesis, fifth chapter, And at verse twenty-two, We read that Enoch walked with God Which means that he was true

To the great God of heaven And tried to speak His truth In spite of many enemies Who hated him forsooth.

In Jude fourteen and fifteen, Which caused the world to hate him and. To wish that he were dead.

The Lord took righteous Enoch And hid him from the sight Of those who hated him because He spoke the truth outright.

As in the days of Enos So is it at this day— Men call upon God's holy name And walk the other way.

But there are some like Enoch Who speak God's Word however And God will hide them from their foes

And show them loving favor. —HARPER ANDERSON, Hillsboro, W. Va.

FRANCE AT THE PEACE TABLE

TWO WEEKS before the signing of the armistice that ended World War I, on November 11, 1918, I had a brief and informal interview with Clemenceau, the French premier. I had no prepared questions and was not then permitted to use anything but the most general questions. One of the two questions I asked was: "When the war ends, will France support President Wilson's announced policies at the peace conference?"

For just a moment his eyes flashed under those heavy brows and then he replied very quietly: "In this war France has suffered far more than any other nation. We will collect. The Boche will pay."

At the peace table American idealism was to, and did, collide with French realism. France, more than America, dominated the peace conference. Again American idealism will collide with European realism. This time it will not be France that will name the peace terms. This time it will be Russian realism that will dominate. Insofar as eastern Europe is concerned and eastern Asia, should Russia enter the war against Japan, Russia will stake the boundary lines. Self-preservation of peoples, will be the guiding factor. Russia will take back much of what she lost in the settlement of World War I and in the war with Poland. In that, it is my guess, she will have the support of England. Joseph Stalin is a realist. There will be no federation of small nations of eastern Europe to threaten the Russian bear.

WAR PLANT PAYROLLS AND INFLATION

WORKERS IN WAR PLANTS are given increases in wages until their income is at least double that of normal times. They want to spend that increase but there is a decrease in the commodities they can buy. Such a condition causes inflation. Abnormal wage scales have caused excessive prices for war products, a doubling up of the cost of war. That calls for increased taxation and an increased issue of government bonds. The taxation and purchase of bonds have fallen hardest upon those who have not profited from increased wage scales in war plants or increased profits from the production of war necessities. The increased wages in war plants has thrown the whole economic machinery out of gear and produced the conditions out of which inflation is born. The place to have controlled inflation was in the war plant payroll.

HERE IS A MAN WHO KNOWS FARM PROBLEMS

I do not believe there is any man in America who has a clearer conception of the big and little problems of American agriculture than Wheeler McMillen. He knows the needs of the dirt farmer through having been one and he is still operating a farm of that character. He is organizer and president of the Comagric council, he knows the future possibilities of American agriculture.

He has been directly instrumental in providing new uses for farm products. His urge is for greater farm production and in that increased production he sees the future of America. He values the American farm far greater than those who seek temporary makeshifts to increase prices of farm products. His efforts are to create increased permanent markets that will provide profitable prices. He is a safe and practical type for agriculture to follow.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

South America supplied 65 per cent of the world's rubber needs in 1890, while in 1922 only about 6 per cent came from that section. Far East plantation development accounts for the drop in the demand for Amazon Valley rubber.

Synthetic rubber is defined as a man-made combination of molecules that form a substance having the chief characteristics of crude rubber.

In 1938 the total of American-controlled rubber plantations was about 260,000 acres, mostly in the Far East. These plantations produced 40,000 tons annually, or about 8 per cent of U. S. imports.

It is the increase in the number of public employees of the federal government in the first six months of 1943 amounted to something like $100,000,000 on the payroll. Not a single cent of the increase in the number of public employees is due to the war effort. The increase is due to the fact that the government is paying more money to its employees and is not getting any more work out of them.

History Made in Bathroom

There's an interesting picture of Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt working together in "How War Came to America," just published in England.

When Mr. Churchill was staying at the White House in December, 1941, he and the President were looking for the right phrase to describe the Allied nations. In bed on the morning of the 31st President Roosevelt had an inspiration. He got up at once to seek Mr. Churchill—and found him in his bath. Quoting from the book: "How about the 'United Nations'?" he called out, as Churchill brought his soapy head above water. The prime minister ducked again to rinse the last of the soap from his eyes, shook his head, and turned a dripping gaze on the President. "That," he said, "should do it."

And that—from one master phrase-maker to another—was a real tribute.

THE LARGEST SHORTSTAPLES OVER

It is the increase in the number of public employees of the federal government in the first six months of 1943 amounted to something like $100,000,000 on the payroll. Not a single cent of the increase in the number of public employees is due to the war effort. The increase is due to the fact that the government is paying more money to its employees and is not getting any more work out of them.

THE HILLS NEWS

Dock Sharp has accepted a position at Camp Seneca Park. Mrs. Eibel Braham and daughter of Marlinton spent the week-end at the home of Mrs. Oda Gay. Wilbur Dolan has gone to Narrows, Va., to work. Mrs. Brown Miller was a visitor of Mrs. Eibel Braham and Mae Gay on Tuesday. Barly lively spent a short furlough with John Ilwey. Mrs. Paul Braham received a long distance telephone call Friday night from her husband in California telling her he has been promoted to Staff Sergeant. (No wonder she is walking on air!) Mae Gay has accepted a position with Curry and Callison. Miss Margaret Bambrick was an overnight guest with Catherin Valandingham Friday night. Miss Delma Kennedy is home from the hospital where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. Mrs. Pearl Yeager and Rev. and Mrs. Saville were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oda Gay.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my father, Daniel Ryder, who departed this life October 7, 1943: On a hill not far away, there's a new-made grave today, where they laid my dear father, just one week ago today. Sweetly sleeping, resting at last, his earthly toils and trials are past. His hands which did so much for me—how silent now they lay! Everybody knows they have worked constantly, but they have gone to rest. He was a wonderful father, man of aid; one who was better God never made: He was a wonderful father, loyal and true; One in a million, that, father, was you. He will sleep, but not forever, on that lone and silent hill; rest and sleep in peaceful slumber until that great Judgment Day, when the last great trumpet sounds, and the dead in Christ shall rise. He will be carried home to heaven, where he will join the angel band, and he will sing the endless praises all throughout the Promised Land. By his daughter, MRS. ROBERT SIMMONS, Bayler, W. Va.

DOUTHARD'S CREEK

Our nice dry weather changed into a rain and a cold snap. People here are busy getting their corn shucked and cribbed. Mrs. A. H. Wade who has been visiting on Anthony's Creek has returned home. Charlie Palmer is cutting dye wood which he purchased from the Government. Dr. Beddow, Miss Ozalia Alderman and J. W. Alderman and family, all of Charleston spent a few days last week at D. W. Alderman's hunting. Corpl. Lacy George Alderman who is stationed at Camp Pickett, Blackstone, Va., was home on a three-day leave last week. Miss Ann Clay Allen of Marlinton spent the week at D. W. Alderman's. Quite a few persons are hunting in this community and they report that game is scarce. Miss Dorothy Alderman is visiting friends and relatives in Charleston. Arthur Jackson is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Palmer.

Overweight Oil makes Old Cars Older—Fast

A Light grade of oil can make good, with your engine Winter OIL-PLATED

You can change to an OIL-PLATED engine by changing to any grade of Conoco Nth motor oil—from lightest to heaviest—and you can change to any grade of Conoco Nth at the same popular price. But the lightest possible grade of oil that's fit for the Winter change your car needs now will help to save your battery—your gasoline—your engine. The more the oil is overweight the greater the wear, and when that makes you try still heavier oil you get still more wear—still more oil and gasoline consumption—worse and worse and worse. Short-circuit this ruinous process by having your engine OIL-PLATED.

OIL-PLATING is distinct from the familiar liquid type of high-strength oil film also provided by Conoco Nth oil. Both oil film and OIL-PLATING are paired against wear every mile. Every time your engine rests, however, any liquid film drains down to the crankcase. But OIL-PLATING doesn't all drain down. It tends to stay wherever attached by Conoco Nth oil's "magnet-like" action—achieved synthetically. Often now you don't use your car for days. Yet when you start, the OIL-PLATED surfaces are still ready-lubricated... "faster than instantly." That's how the former fierce wear of cold starting is reduced by OIL-PLATING your engine. All other wear, too, meets its match in your OIL-PLATED engine. Change at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station—today. He knows the lightest grade of Nth for you. Continental Oil Company

Dread Engine Acid Fought by OIL-PLATING

Normal combustion always leaves acids inside of your engine when it stops.

Formerly it seldom stood idle long. Soon mileage and speed heated your engine enough to oust acids.

But nowadays rationing may force long rests, while corrosive acids gnaw. To combat corrosion, metals are plated. You combat acid corrosion with your engine OIL-PLATED.

My Helpers Deserve Good Care

HERE'S a young housewife with exactly the right idea to make her electric appliances last for the duration and, at the same time, prevent the waste of vital electric current. She knows that by keeping her appliances clean, oiled as they need it, preventing the work from being frayed and twisted, and not permitting the children to use them as playthings, they will keep right on being the most valuable "maids" she has.

Have a "Coke" = Auld Lang Syne

... or how to welcome a returning hero

He'll be looking for the old familiar things—the gang at the corner store, his old room, the family radio. That's why Coca-Cola makes such a perfect welcome. He learned to like its ice-cold refreshment in his boyhood. In camp and overseas it helps him make new friends. On his return it says to him, Son, you're home again. HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Lynn Chambers' Point-Saving Menus: Melon Ball Cocktail, Roast Leg of Lamb with Pear-Mint Jelly Garnish.

Creamed Lamb and Peas:

- 3 cups cooked, diced lamb, 1 medium onion, sliced, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 cups leftover gravy.

Saute sliced onion in butter until tender, add gravy and season with Worcestershire sauce.

If there is no gravy left from the meat, add 4 tablespoons flour to the butter or substitute in which the onion is cooked.

Leftover lamb can be appetizingly served in a noodle ring which does a splendid job of extending the meat.

The last of the lamb can be used effectively in a salad bowl just in case there's still some of it left.

Lamb Salad Bowl:

- 2 1/2 cups diced, cold lamb, 2 cups diced celery, 1/2 cup chopped green pepper.

Place diced lamb in center of bowl. Arrange diced celery in a circle around the lamb.

Lamb is inexpensive in both points and money as compared with other cuts of meat.

Lamb Curry Pie:

- 2 pounds lamb, shoulder or breast, 1 onion, diced, 1 tablespoon fat, 3 cups hot water.

Cut lamb into inch-length pieces. Brown lamb and onion in hot fat. Add water, thyme and salt.

Rice may be omitted, and the top covered with baking powder biscuit dough.

Are you having a time stretching meats? Write to Miss Lynn Chambers for practical hints.

Plan Long Career, Much Variety for Leg o' Lamb Roast

If you plan a long and much-varied career for your roasts, you will not only have delicious meals from them but you will work a wonderful saving on points.

Take a roast leg of lamb, for instance. If you have it on Sunday baked in all its glory to a nice golden brown.

Don't be scared of the leftovers when you chart your course ahead. Giving the roast this three-way career makes it an economical purchase even for smaller families.

Proper cooking prevents excess shrinkage. Proper carving will avoid needless waste.

Roast Leg of Lamb:

Do not remove fell. Put leg, skin side up on a rack in roasting pan. Season with salt and pepper.

How to Carve Lamb:

The leg of lamb should be placed before the carver so that the shank bone is to his right, and the thick, meaty section to the right side of the platter.

Insert the carving fork firmly in the large end of the leg and carve two or three lengthwise slices from the near thin side.

Is there lamb leftover from Sunday? Cut up the remainder of the lamb in cubes and serve it thus:

Creamed Lamb and Peas in Noodle Ring:

Noodle Ring: Cook 8-ounce package of wide noodles as directed on package, drain and rinse.

Lynn Says:

Cabbage is King! Cabbage is an important source of vitamin C, and is best served raw to provide roughage in the diet.

Grated raw carrots, onion, minced, cooked dressing.

Chopped cucumber pickles, diced celery, dressing.

Diced apples, raisins, dressing, Pineapple, dressing.

Grated raw beets, parsley, dressing.

Diced celery, apples, chopped nuts, whipped cream flavored with sugar and vanilla.

Clara and Juanita Dahmer were leaders for Youth Fellowship Sunday night. The topic was "Live and Let Live." "Living for Jesus" was sung followed with Scripture reading by Nadine Shifflett; talks were given by Sue Porter and Juanita Dahmer; "I Need Jesus" was sung; Bill Zopp gave a talk and Peggy Good led in prayer; the song "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" was followed by a poem by Maxine Shinaberry and a talk by Marie Dill. 37 were present for the "twos."

COUNCIL MEETING

The Council of the Youth Fellowship met with Maxine Fisher, Tuesday, October 12. A short program was given which consisted of Scripture, Bill Zopp; talk, Evelyn Galford, and prayer, Beulah Dahmer. It was planned to have a new service flag made and to have a special service of dedication.

The Trunk of the Tree

FIRST there was just wilderness. Then some men came and cleared away the trees and the underbrush. Pretty soon they started to build a factory—way out to nowhere and gone. The reason was simple—the land was cheap. Also, they knew they could depend on the railroad's laying a spur line over which they could bring in people and raw materials and ship out to market their finished product. It wasn't long before a little cluster of houses sprang up for the workers. Roads appeared. An enterprising merchant arrived and opened a general store. Soon a doctor came and a dentist. A garage went up. Then a drug store, a barber shop, a movie house. And so the town grew. Nobody planned it that way. American initiative made it that way.

The town grew as opportunity grew. It grew like a tree—slowly, steadily, surely. And the trunk of the tree—the trunk through which the lifesap flowed—was the railroad. Every man who made his living in that town made it from goods that came in by the railroad, or that went out over its bright rails to markets beyond. The men who built that town in the wilderness believe with all their hearts in free enterprise. But some of them may not appreciate the extent to which their continued economic freedom depends on freedom of the railroads. The sirens of regimentation may lull us with the theory that it is all very well for private businesses to remain free, but that public carriers should be owned by the government.

But what would this mean in practical terms to every business man in the community we have described? It would mean that his dealings with the railroads would now be on a political instead of a business basis. And would railroad service be improved? With bureaucrats in charge, and no more competition between lines? You can read the answer in any country in the world where railroads are government-controlled. Before you listen to those who would "regiment" our railroads, consider whether our business structure could long remain half slave and half free. And whether, if the axe is laid at the trunk, the whole tree would not suffer.

Tercentenary of Assembly

Presbyterian churches throughout the United States and in many other parts of the world are beginning the celebration of the tercentenary of the calling of the famed "Westminster Assembly" by the British Parliament in 1643 to "consult and advise concerning matters of religion." While the original 121 divines called to the Assembly were all ordained in the Church of England (Episcopal), it was this gathering, which remained in session for almost nine years, that formulated the doctrine, form of government and other ideals upon which the worldwide Presbyterian Church is based. For the year 1943, plunged into a war of ideals, this paragraph from the "Confession of Faith" of the Assembly has more than passing significance: "God alone is Lord of the conscience, and hath left it from the doctrines and commandments of men which are in any thing contrary to his Word, or beside it, in matters of faith or worship. So that to believe such doctrines, or to obey such commandments out of conscience, is to betray true liberty of conscience; and the requiring of an implicit faith, and an absolute blind obedience, is to destroy liberty of conscience, and reason also."

LOBELIA NEWS

Sunday morning this community had its first snow of the year, but it was mostly melted by afternoon. Mrs. Robert Williams returned home last week accompanied by her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Williams of White Hall, Md. Mrs. Fannie Geiger of Edray visited friends here last week. Pvt. William Townsend is home on furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Townsend. Miss Gertrude Kinnison has been ill at her home. Nelson Simmons is improving. W. C. Morgan has been very ill with the flu. Winona Coxey spent last week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kinnison. Those from a distance attending the funeral of Mrs. Cora Kinnison were Mr. and Mrs. Upton Mace of Pickens, Arnett Mace of Horner, Mr. and Mrs. Merrell Hodges of Cleveland, O., Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Hill and daughter Pauline of Richwood, Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Hill and Miss Ivor Hill of Richwood, Marton and Dale Kinnison of Charleston. Nathaniel Hollandsworth has been visiting his son Charley Hollandsworth. Mrs. Serene Grimes is ill at her home.

GREENBANK NEWS

Mrs. E. P. Shafer and son Emory and Mrs. J. M. Hannah returned to their homes Thursday after spending a few days with the John and George Hannahs. They were accompanied to Staunton by Mesdames George and John Hannah. Mrs. Rachel Wooddell received a telegram on Wednesday announcing the safe arrival of her daughter, Elizabeth, in England. She is with the American Red Cross. Mr. and Mrs. Kerth Friel and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gillespie and son Donald of Baltimore spent a few days at the Floyd Wright home here, returning to Baltimore Sunday.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to express our thanks to all who were so good and kind to us at the death of our Mother. We appreciate more than words can express the beautiful flowers and all. May God's richest blessing rest upon each one is our prayer.

You can help keep the Ships moving down the ways to Victory

One of Baltimore's biggest shipyards needs men—urgently—to help with the vitally important job of building cargo ships, tankers and transports. This need is YOUR opportunity—your chance to earn good money while making a real, ESSENTIAL contribution to the war effort.

EARN WHILE YOU LEARN—No experience is necessary. You pick out a job—learn it under our training program—and get paid while learning. Starting rates are good. Average weekly earnings, taken for all workers in the yard, are excellent. If you are skilled in a shipyard trade—but not already in an essential job—you are of course more than welcome, and will earn extra-high wages.

HOUSING NEAR YARD—For shipyard workers there are new apartments, fifteen minutes away. Rentals are $34 per month for room, kitchen and bath; $36 for two rooms, kitchen and bath; $38 for 3 rooms, kitchen and bath. Gas and electricity included.

SOLDIERS OF PRODUCTION—Take your place in the patriotic ranks of the production army! Not only does your country need you—but this chance is one you can't afford to miss. There are real opportunities for advancement among the jobs offered. This shipyard has been in operation for 55 years. Many employees who worked there during the first World War are still on the job.

No, these are not Russian or Polish war orphans. They are right here at home. Their father, who was an automobile mechanic, is in Europe now, repairing American tanks. Their mother is in a war plant. Every night they sit here and wait her homecoming—and dinner. Your dollars can support playgrounds, equipment and care for them through one of your local welfare agencies. Would you rather have a new evening gown?

Let your heart decide

A merchant seaman has been dragged back to life from an ocean of flaming oil. He has lost all of the little possessions that sailed with him. He is given warmth and comforts and strength to fulfil his desire to "ship" again by your dollars. Would you rather have bought a new radio?

DOLLARS can be cold and selfish things. Or they can be generous, compassionate and merciful. Turn over the spending of some of your dollars to your heart. It will want to give twice what your logical mind intended to give, because your heart understands the mercy, the relief and the pleasure that these dollars bring. Let your heart decide.

This Chinese baby didn't have much, but yesterday it did have a straw shelter, a crude cradle and two parents to care for it. A screaming Japanese bomb destroyed them all. Your dollars can bring this baby back to a useful life in the new China to come. Would you rather have a new chair in the living room?

Remember this soldier? You saw him on the USO posters last year. His smile comes straight from a USO clubhouse. One of the finest things civilians have done in this war is in building and supporting the USO. Boys come into the army from farms and cities—a little lonely—a little homesick. The USO provides friendship, entertainment and hominess. Some of your dollars are spent through the USO. Would you rather have bought yourself a few theatre tickets?

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Formal Declaration of War by Italians Adds Impetus to Allied Drive on Rome; Heaviest Air Raids Blast Nazi Plants; Action Increases in Southwest Pacific

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

FORTRESS EUROPE: Hit From All Sides

Even as Allied forces crossed the swollen Volturno river under the cover of heavy artillery fire in southern Italy, hundreds of Flying Fortresses escorted by speedy Thunderbolt fighters delivered a hard blow at the Nazis' huge roller-bearing plant in Schweinfurt, Germany.

In crossing the Volturno, Allied forces chose to span the narrow river at its eastern point, where they began working northward toward the mountains overlooking the communication lines used by the Nazis to supply their embattled legions.

While the Germans held to the west flank of the river, they were brought under increasing pressure of Allied fire from land and sea. Hovering offshore, U. S. and British warships pumped big shells into German positions inland.

In blasting Schweinfurt's roller-bearing plant, a record number of 60 Flying Fortresses were reported missing. More than 100 of fighter planes upon which the Nazis are depending to check Allied air raids, were brought down by the raiders.

Italy Now on Own

Allied consideration toward Italy will be greatly influenced by the degree of assistance she lends British and U. S. armies in the war against Germany.

When Badoglio declared war on the Nazis, the Allies accepted his Italian government as a partner on the strength of its ability to help beat back the Germans and thus spare U. S. and British lives.

It was made clear, however, that Badoglio's regime, as it now is, would not be accepted as a political partner; and the Allies would only give Italy political recognition upon the formation of a liberal democratic government.

Because of Italy's weakened industrial and agricultural position, it was presumed that some sort of assistance, possibly through lend-lease, would have to be given her to equip and maintain her for fighting.

SUBSIDIES: To Dairy Farmers

To offset the increased cost of feed, the government will pay subsidies ranging from 30 to 50 cents per hundredweight on whole milk sales, and from 4 to 6 cents a pound on butterfat.

Based on increased feed costs, the different rates were fixed to assist farmers who have to purchase more feed than formerly, with maximum payments going to farmers in drought counties where feed crops suffered damage.

Subsidies will be paid after farmers submit such satisfactory evidence as creamery statements as to the amount of milk or butterfat sold to their AAA county committee. In all, 3 1/2 million dairy farmers are expected to qualify under the 60-million-dollar program.

The whole subsidy question appeared to be headed for a thorough going over again, with the house banking and currency committee advising congress to allow subsidy payments to producers only, and not to reduce retail food costs.

RUSSIA: Battle Rages

The great battle for the Dnieper river rages.

With Russian forces across the river at several points, German troops fought desperately to prevent their organization for full scale entangling attacks, which would trap the Nazi armies from the rear.

Far to the south of the 75-mile front, the Reds assaulted Nazi positions protecting their forces in the Crimea. Since the Germans held shortened defense lines in this sector, any Russian breakthrough would compel them to fall back to the Dnieper river and thus extend their battle front, or else trap at least 100,000 Nazis.

Standing behind prepared positions, the Germans bitterly resisted the Reds' repeated attacks on their southern lines guarding the Baltic states and old Poland.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC: Strike Jap Air Posts

Now that Allied ground forces have driven the Japs from most of their Southwest Pacific outposts, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command is concentrating on the elimination of all enemy air bases which might be used to harass further drives to the north toward the Philippines.

For this task, imaginative General MacArthur is using large air fleets. Hundreds of Liberators and Mitchell bombers poured 350 tons of bombs on Rabaul, leaving that important Japanese supply depot for their entire Southwest Pacific front, smoking in ruins.

After Rabaul, General MacArthur's bombers trained their sights on remaining Jap air bases in the Solomons, and with U. S. fighters, attacked the main airdromes from which the enemy has been raiding Allied posts to the south.

Southwest China Periled

Trying to seal off the back door of China, three strong Japanese columns drove toward Yunnan province's capital of Kunming.

The Japs attacked along the Burma road, which leads into China at the point of the enemy's new attack. Chinese forces bitterly resisted the Japs' drive, with the aid of the 14th U. S. air force, which pounded the invaders' gas and oil dumps and military installations.

With the Japs dominating much of the eastern coast of China, key to the entrance of the country lies in the southwestern section, known as Yunnan province. This section assumes important significance with talk of Allied plans of driving into China from Burma.

LABOR: Lewis Back in AFL until settlement of disputes between certain AFL unions and the UMW's District 50, which organized in their fields.

Once ridiculed by Lewis as an "Old Lady," AFL President William Green swallowed his pride and, pleading for unity in labor, led the fight for the UMW's re-admission against opposition from the floor of the convention, mustered by the Progressive Miners Union, which stayed in the AFL when the UMW bolted it in 1935.

Re-entrance of Lewis' 700,000 miners into the AFL will boost the organization's total membership well over the seven-million mark.

Confederate General's Widow Aids Uncle Sam

Widow of the famous Confederate general of the Civil war, Mrs. Helen Borth Longstreet is learning riveting in Georgia so that she might take her place in a production line to help Uncle Sam win World War II.

Refusing to disclose her age, gray-haired Mrs. Longstreet resides in a trailer camp outside of Marietta, Ga., and reports for instruction each morning in slacks.

Since the general's death in 1904, Mrs. Longstreet has worked as a newspaper reporter, post-mistress in Gainesville, Ga., and an employee in the veterans bureau in Washington, D. C.

INDIA: Famine Relief

To relieve famine conditions which reached their worst peak in Bengal province, the central government of India placed a ban on the export of all grain from the stricken country.

At the same time, officials said every effort was being made to obtain more shipping for importation of food. However, it was said that India's famine was of such proportion that imports alone could not entirely appease the hunger.

Worst conditions existed in Bengal province, where scarcity of rice was aggravated by the high prices being asked for the staple despite the low level of the populace's income.

Government purchase of the entire rice crop and resale was seen as partial solution to the famine problem.

RECOVERY: Would Use Old Models

In order to speed reconversion to civilian goods after the war, War Production board officials have suggested manufacture of 1942 models with tools already available.

If plans were made for the production of new models, in the automobile industry for instance, WPB officials said at least 18 months might be required for retooling.

WPB could enforce manufacture of 1942 models, it was said, if it retained its control over the allotment of materials. Such control would be lifted when industries would be on the way toward development of new models during the ordinary course of production.

SALARIES: U. S.'s Highest

Highest salaried official in the U. S. in 1941 was Hollywood executive Louis B. Mayer, who drew $949,765 from Loew's, Inc. Second highest was C. G. Sweblus, who received $631,809 from the management and engineering firm of the Dixwell corporation. Third highest was Eugene Grace, who was paid $537,724 by the Bethlehem Steel corporation.

Movie stars were high on the list of the top-salaried. Claudette Colbert drew $390,000 from Paramount and Twentieth Century Fox; Ginger Rogers received $355,000 from RKO and Twentieth Century, and Charles Boyer was paid $350,000 from Paramount, Universal and Warner.

On the basis of tax rates applying to 1941 rates, $654,554 would be paid on a million dollar salary; $307,084 on $500,000, and $108,174 on $200,000.

POSTWAR: Peace Plans

To prevent future aggression and to preserve the peace of the world, a senate subcommittee proposed that the United States act through constitutional processes to join with free and sovereign nations in the establishment and maintenance of international authority.

The subcommittee's proposal was considered as a likely compromise between advocates of broad participation in international plans for preserving world peace, and advocates of limited participation, who have insisted on U. S. freedom to decide her action on any particular measure for maintaining order.

The subcommittee's proposal was little different from the Fulbright resolution adopted by the house, calling for the "... creation of appropriate international machinery with power adequate to establish and maintain a just and lasting peace and as favoring participation of the U. S. therein through its constitutional processes."

LIVING COSTS: Up 6%

It costs about 6 per cent more to live this year than last, according to a survey released by the department of commerce. In the first six months of the year living expenses rose about 7 per cent above 1943, but in July a decline was recorded for the first time since the war began. By August the level dropped to slightly less than 6 per cent over last year. A slight rise during the autumn and winter months will not affect the overall picture.

Allies Ponder Possibilities Of Russ-Nazi Peace Treaty

Soviet Offensive May Mean Sudden End of War With Germany; Stalin Holds High Cards In Diplomatic Game.

By BAUKHAGE, News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building, Washington, D. C.

Washington watches the swift march of events across the Russian plains. The renewed offensive, more than half a month before even the Russian people dreamed it was possible, has quickened all nerves. For the Russians, it means the possibility of a sudden peace.

And while Moscow dreams of the end of the war just around the first snow-covered mound on the battlefield, the Allies are considering the possibility of what it means to them. For there is always that haunting memory of a remark of Stalin's in the back of their minds—the remark that the destruction of the Reichswehr was not a condition of German surrender as far as the Kremlin is concerned. In addition there is the realization of the presence of those German divisions still intact beyond the Alps, not to mention the others still nearer.

Not (we are assured) that Stalin will make a separate peace with Germany but if a peace treaty is written on the stalwart backs of a victorious Russian army, what terms can the Allies insist upon that Stalin need feel called upon to approve unless his own many possible desiderata are agreed to by Britain and the United States?

It does not make the task any easier for the gentlemen in London and Washington now carefully selecting what the well-dressed diplomat should wear in Moscow. One thing is very certain, no old fashioned regalia will be in style. There will be no opportunity for the polite game where one can risk a little bluff with fair assurance of drawing a wild joker to four of a kind or color if Russia holds all the cards.

What Russia Wants

The optimists say that Russia wants nothing that an honest world cannot afford to offer, and is willing to give in return all that an honest world need ask for. The pessimists say that even if Britain and America can be converted to full faith in such an attitude and intent on Russia's part, how are you going to convert communist Russia to an equal faith in the attitude and intentions of the capitalistic nations?

Unfortunately, Britain and the United States have a somewhat painful diplomatic record in dealing with Germany when Adolf Hitler held his ace—the strongest air force in the world and a sizable army. We all bowed down at Munich and, indeed, (though it has been forgotten) there was some rivalry for the credit in achieving a peace in our time that was no peace. However, with the help of Russia, the Allies were able to take Hitler's ace in the end.

And so in certain discreet circles it has been suggested that the Allied weakness in the diplomatic field as far as things to trade with Russia are concerned, might become a strength if the Allied joint general staff became the negotiators. These gentlemen might be able to offer what Russia wants most (which is what we all want)—security. And these gentlemen might likewise make demands which Russia would desire to consider, namely, co-operation with compromise, refusal of which could lead to nothing better than what Hitler got in the end.

And Hitler's own words, spoken when he addressed a meeting of his party chiefs and generals recently, are worthy of note. The Fuehrer suggested for Germany what Britain and the United States might well contribute to negotiations with Russia in addition to their diplomats and their armies and navies.

The Fuehrer Says

"The (Nazi) party's struggle for power," said Hitler, "set an example for today's struggle of destiny of the German people. . . arms alone mean nothing if not backed by the will of men."

The Germans made a fatal mistake twice in one generation. They failed to count on the will of the American people. If that will is made clear today, if America's intention is written clearly that all may see, the intention which we profess—a decent peace, justice and security for all—and if that will and intent is backed by the force we have, nothing can resist it. That is really the thing which can win the peace, as it has made the winning of the war possible, whatever credit may justly go to others who have battled our common enemy.

Visitors to U. S.

The war has brought a great many Englishmen to the United States who otherwise might never have known any more of America than they learned from the movies. Many are highly trained specialists, others are broadly educated, like those in newspaper and radio work. I have met a number, especially of the latter group. And I am struck by one thing which they comment upon—the widespread education in America.

That is one thing which will make up one of England's No. 1 postwar reforms—a real public school system. We, in America, underestimate our own schools on the one hand and overestimate our literacy on the other.

At first, the army demanded that a man be able to read and write or he was deferred. This lost nearly a million men to the armed forces—four states have 30 per cent or more adult illiteracy.

According to latest information, 25,000 illiterates have already been reclaimed for army service which means that they have been taught to read and write and do simple arithmetic. It is said that there are facilities for giving the same basic instruction to 750,000 more.

But that is by no means the extent of army education. A statement from the Office of War Information the other day said, speaking of the serviceman: "Unless he comes from a well-to-do family, his educational opportunities are in fact rather better in than out of the services."

That is probably something that few parents thought of when they waved good-bye at the station. They did not realize that the army and navy are operating the largest adult school in the world. One out of every ten adults in the country, 11 out of every 14 able-bodied men between 18 and 38 will probably be students in that school system by the end of this year. A million boys will be in the preindustrial courses, the system's prep schools. Nine out of ten of these men will receive advanced training as specialists.

The Future

Much of the education received will be carried over as useful in civilian life, for one out of three of every army and navy job is identical with a civilian job and over two-thirds of the men in the service develop skills that can be used in civilian jobs.

These figures alone, I believe, show that when "D Day" comes, the millions discharged will not be a careless, riotous lot, good for nothing but to fight. As a matter of fact, the vast majority will have, if they have anything like the feeling I and most of my comrades in the last war had, an overweening desire to settle down to a job and the building of a home, "no more to roam." Some, of course, who had the itching foot will have developed chronic cases, but it is doubtful if those rolling stones would have gathered much moss anyhow.

For the majority of the men who make up our armed forces who want and expect to fill civilian jobs, the careful classification of skills which is a vital part of the army and navy system is going to work in reverse in getting them jobs afterward. In preparation for this, experts are already assembling accurate descriptions of jobs which men learn to do in the service, keeping a cumulative record of the work they do, preparing additional tests which will give a clear picture of their achievements and talents to the prospective employer. They are also preparing to tell the serviceman what job he is best fitted for and offering help which will better prepare him for it.

I doubt if ever before in history the military has taken on such a responsibility for fitting the boy back into his natural groove when the fighting is over. This is a total war, everybody is in it, and those who have been forced to take over the abnormal duties of fighting are not going to be set adrift.

Motorists should endorse their gasoline ration coupons immediately and not wait until they buy gas.

In a recent broadcast, Tokyo radio announced that "the military administration over the Philippines has been terminated." The broadcast quoted an announcement from Lt. Gen. Shigenori Kuroda, Japanese army commander of the islands.

Certificates will be awarded to all soldiers who successfully complete prescribed work in the Army Specialized Training program at colleges and universities, according to the war department. It is anticipated that college credits will be granted if the trainee returns to college after termination of the military service.

APPLICUE DESIGN ON PAPER. Mrs. Ruth Wyeth's design for a table with green leaves on it. The table was placed over the top of the table and tacked around the edges. A piece of glass was cut to fit the finished boards were screwed around the sides. The interesting fabric could be under the glass of the table or bright flower prints or a pattern would give a good effect.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER. In the 45 years between 1880 and 1924, the output of rubber produced by the Far East plantations jumped from half a ton to 98 per cent of the world's supply—1924 shipments were 1,000,000 tons. The first official record, that for 1899, shows that four tons of rubber were produced from 4000 acres under cultivation.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news. BASEBALL: It is reasonably certain that major league baseball will continue to be played in the 1945 season, club presidents agree. There are between 30 and 40 players in the two leagues who have been captured by the armed forces on physical grounds, and several others are out of it. With this incident, it is expected that satisfactory teams can be organized.

CHEQUES: A million checks every working day, or 300 million a year, will soon be the rate of issue of the federal government, according to W. A. Julian, treasurer of the government. He explained that payments to families of service men account for the huge number of small checks. Expenditures are now running around seven and a half billion dollars a month, he said.
